Plan Services At Greenfield On Good Friday

GREENFIELD — Good Friday services will be held at the Greenfield Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. April 16. Rev. S. W. Thornton will deliver the message.

Greenfield News

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Cook held a potluck supper at their home Saturday evening. Present were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Burroughs, Mrs. Ed Cook, Mrs. Greer Burns, Mrs. Carrie Houlihan and C. J. Johnson of Sandwich.

Mrs. Chas E. Burroughs has returned from a visit with her son Lt. Col. C. R. Burroughs and family in Alexandria, Va. They visited many places of interest including the grave of the late President Kennedy and toured the Tidal Basin where the Cherry blossoms are in bloom at this season. Mrs. Burroughs was entertained one day in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Range and was their guest at lunch at Bethesda Naval Medical Center Officers' Club at Bethesda Maryland.

Aviation Fire Control Technician Airman James F. Houlette, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Houlette of Greenfield graduated March 19 from the Aviation Fire Control Technician School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn. He studied safety precautions, publications, reports, and the basic theory of aviation gun-fire control systems. Prior to completion of this school, he graduated from the two week Aviation Familiarization School and the 19 week Aviation Electronics Fundamentals School. A graduate of Greenfield High School Houlette entered the Navy in 1963.

Flowers Topic For Kiwanis

Miss Emma Mae Leonhard, president of the Morgan County Kiwanis Club, Thursday noon displayed for the Jacksonville Kiwanis club nine varieties of flowers already in bloom in Jacksonville.

Miss Leonhard, former head of the Jacksonville High School English Department, also showed numerous slides of area plants, flowers, and trees thriving in many back yards of Jacksonville homes. She concluded with slides taken while on European tours during the past four years.

Shown above are Ellis L. Brant, amateur gardener and principal of Lincoln Elementary School, and Miss Leonhard.

Bill Deem, chairman of Monday's Kiwanis Pancake and sausage Day, reported that 3,273 advance-sale tickets had been sold to-date, and ticket chairman Ralph Troyer urged a final sales push to distribute 5,000 tickets by Monday.

The annual fund-raising event for Jacksonville civic projects will be held in McClelland Dining Hall on MacMurray campus from 7 a.m. to 8 p.m., Monday, April 12.

Guests were Don Bringham of Western Illinois Power Company and Bill Davis of the MacMurray Circle K Club.

Spring Program For Newcomers

A Spring and Easter theme was carried in decorations for the April 6th meeting of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers club held at the Blackhawk. Flowers and Easter baskets adorned the tables. Hostesses were Mrs. David Rouzer, Mrs. Edward Hulson and Mrs. Wayne Ingram.

Mrs. Walter Tappen, program chairman, introduced the program. Mrs. Smith of Bonne Bell cosmetics, demonstrated correct use of make-up on her model, Mrs. Charles Musgrave. She also provided samples of make-up and moisturizers to all present. Mrs. Sampson from the Emporium, presented a delightful

"WE'LL DELIVER"

To Voters of the 5th Ward:

I am interested and working to be your Alderman — the following information may be of some help —

My grandfather lived here, my father was born here, and I am living here. I enlisted in the Marine Corps and in 1952 served with an infantry company in Korea. In 1958 I graduated from the University of Illinois with at least twenty hours in Political Science and law.

My wife, Betty Fisherkeller Pine, a graduate of Illinois College ('53) and I reside at 14 Sunnydale with our children Kathy, John III, Mike, and Mark.

I own and operate the Public Service Agency located in the Jacksonville Savings and Loan Building. (In settling accounts) I have continuous contact with professional and business men as well as the general public.

I have helped support the American Legion, Jacksonville Area Industrial Corp., Kiwanis, Knights of Columbus, and Young Republicans.

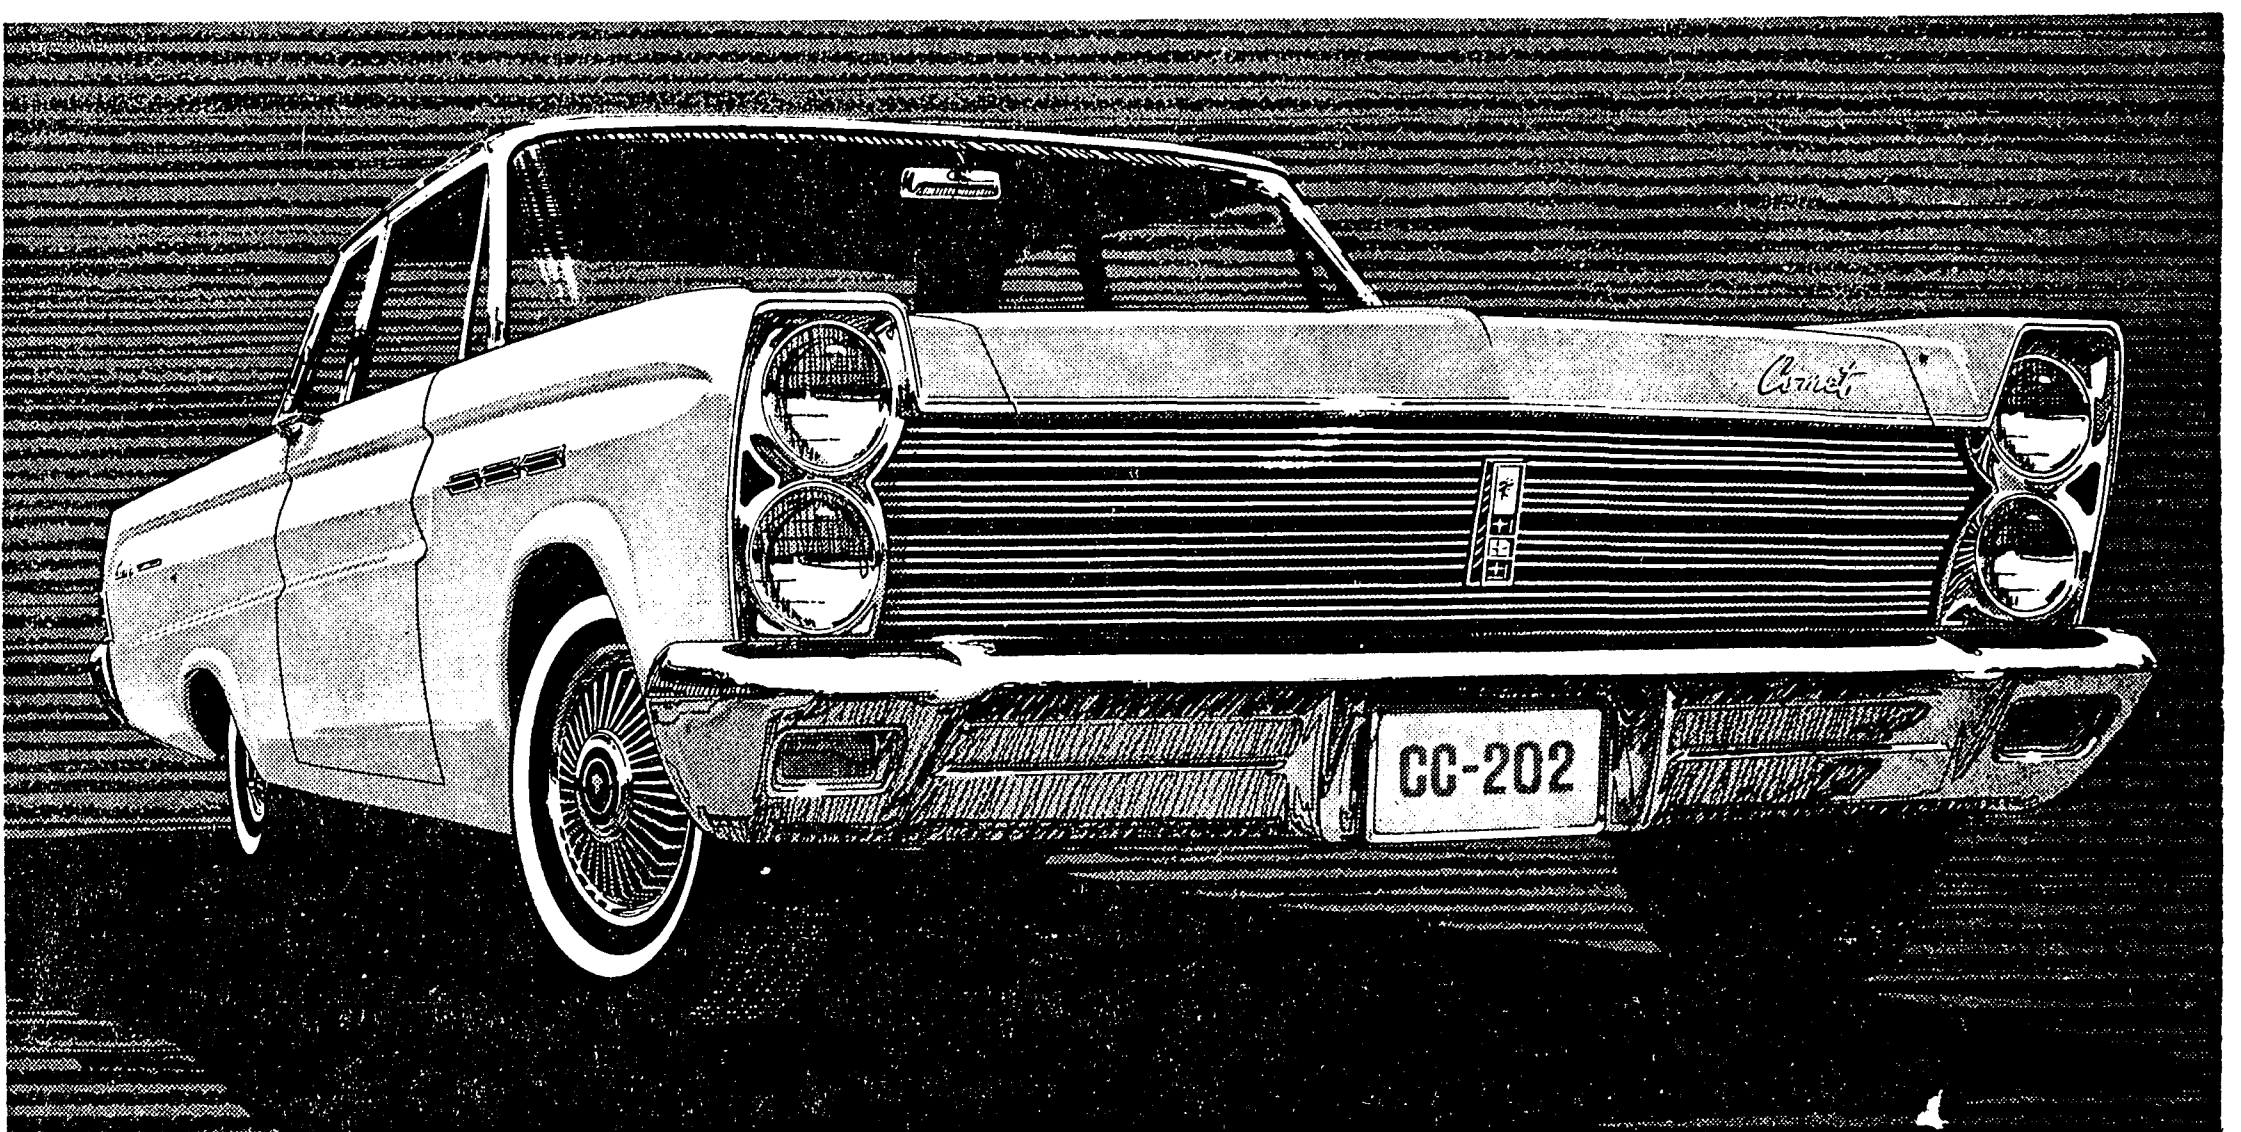

I would like to emphasize that as a local business man I will be readily available to all of you . . . no further than your phone.

Thank you,

Reither On Beardstown

By Virgil Reither
BEARDSTOWN — Miss Charlotte Gilliland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hal Gilliland, 1212 Adams street, a graduate of Beardstown High School, continues to distinguish herself in the banking field in Los Angeles, where she is associated with the large Union Bank of San Francisco. Her most recent promotion is to the responsible position of chief trust officer, in which post she has control over trust funds worth several million dollars. During the past winter, while E. Miller Dunn and his wife were in L.A. they visited the former local girl.

Art Driver, former Beardstown High coach, who piloted Beardstown's first basketball team to the state tournament, has had a second heart attack and is hospitalized at Rockford which is near his home at Oregon. He came here from Industry and took the famous Mike Myers, Teeter Martin, John Brockschmidt, Ed Andell, Bob Buck, Willie Venters quintet to the state where they played and lost a famous four-over-time game with Waterman. These and other of Driver's many Beardstown friends signed a "get well card" mailed to him this week.

Victor Schwab, who was employed at the local mill 28 years, has been hired by a Chicago milling firm as head miller and started work last week. He and his family have a home at 514 E. Sixth street but the wife and children will move when school ends here. They also have three other rentals here. Mrs. Schwab says the company her husband is with now is the same (Dixie Portland) with which the former Beardstownian, Alfie Krohe is associated at Northbrook.

Word from Riverside, Calif., new home of the Judge Hanks family, is that Buddy Hanks, the eldest son, is now a deputy sheriff there, having qualified for the post through civil service. He is a former U.S. Leatherneck. His father was a practicing attorney in Springfield and Beardstown for many years, and a year ago retired as Beardstown City Court judge.

After making a reputation as a Beardstown high school athlete, Jack Bell "went west" and before long began establishing himself with the Lockheed company. He became an expert on airplane propellers and the intricate instrument panel of the big airliners and made many advances which led several months ago to a special assignment in the East where he still is busy. Recently, according to reports to relatives here, he was "jumped" in an apparent robbery attempt, but the attackers were frightened away before getting the job done. Jack wasn't hurt.

In Family Tradition

GREENFIELD — Dean E. and Brenda Shields Bishop received notification Thursday from the Department of Registration and Education of the State of Illinois, that they had successfully passed their Illinois State Board Examinations for embalming and funeral directing licenses. Mr. and Mrs. Bishop are the sixth and seventh licensed embalmers and funeral directors in the Shields family.

They graduated from the W. H. School of Mortuary Science in March 1963, and recently completed two years of apprenticeship under the direction of J. Russell Shields Memorial Home in Greenfield.

Mr. Bishop is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bishop of Rockbridge and Mrs. Bishop is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Shields, and the granddaughter of the late Hugh A. Shields, who graduated from the Clark School of Embalming in Quincy, Illinois, April 17, 1896 and in 1898 took the first embalmers examination offered in the State of Illinois.

The late George H. Shields graduated from the Dallas School of Mortuary Science in 1905 and for many years operated funeral homes in Texas and Oklahoma. J. Russell Shields graduated from Worsham Mortuary School in 1925, Russell Shields Jr. of Lompoc, Calif. graduated from St. Louis mortuary school in 1950; John Shields Ficker, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Ficker of Staunton, graduated from Worsham Mortuary School in 1960, and is identified with the Williamson Funeral Home in Staunton.

Symphony Orchestra Closes Season With Spring Concert

The Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra, under the baton of Dr. Henry E. Busche, presented its spring concert Wednesday, April 7, in Rammelkamp Chapel. The orchestra is supported by the Jacksonville Symphony Society, which was organized two years ago with the orchestra.

The program Wednesday opened with the lively overture to the opera, "The Marriage of Figaro" by W. A. Mozart.

The second number was the "Eighth Symphony in F Major" by L. Van Beethoven. This pleasant music was written by the great composer as a contrast to the grandeur of the more often heard "Seventh Symphony." The work is filled with musical surprises, and the orchestra responding to Dr. Busche's direction, made the most of every one.

The second half of the program was devoted to modern American music, providing a decided contrast to the first part of the program. The first number following the intermission was the "Diverimento in D" by Dean Howard, composer and teacher at Bradley University. Although this musical form is usually associated with the classical period, Professor Howard has made a happy adaptation of it in the modern idiom.

The climax of the program was a "A Lincoln Portrait" by Aaron Copland, a work for reader and orchestra which makes use of Lincoln's own words. The reader for this occasion was the Reverend William Sturgess, pastor of the Central Christian Church of Jacksonville. His magnificent voice made the stirring words of Lincoln live again.

The concert ended with an arrangement by Ralph Matesky of the favorite song of all soldiers at war's end, "When Johnny Comes Marching Home." It was fitting that this musical commemoration of the end of the Civil War and the death of Abraham Lincoln, both of which occurred just one hundred years ago this month, should be presented at Illinois College, which has so many associations with Lincoln, and which had many of its men serving in the Union army.

The Jacksonville Symphony Orchestra thus brought to a close its second successful season. This was the third concert of the year, the first being presented at MacMurray College in November 1964, and the second in February, 1965 at the High School for the children of the Jacksonville Schools.

After the concert the audience attended a reception for members of the orchestra which was held at the home of President and Mrs. L. Vernon Caine. Mrs. Arthur J. French, chairman of the reception committee of the Symphony Society was in charge. She was assisted by Mesdames Thomas C. Rose, Harry A. Birdsell, Warfield Brown, A. Wadsworth Applebee, Robert Hamm, F. Osborne Elliott, and Harry G. Story.

Acting as ushers, as they have for all other Symphony Concerts, were the girls of Scout Cadet Troop 2, under the leadership of Mrs. A. Wadsworth Applebee.

MRS. LLOYD FLINN HEADS BEREIA AID

Mrs. Lloyd Flinn was elected president of the Berea Ladies Aid at a meeting held recently in the home of Mrs. Gilbert McQueen. Mrs. Leslie Ankrum was co-hostess.

Other officers are vice president, Mrs. James Luster; secretary, Mrs. Harold Stewart; assistant secretary, Miss Ale Beltschmidt; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Albert Noll; treasurer, Mrs. Carroll Robinson.

Devotions were given by Mrs. James Luster. The program on the Easter season was presented by Mrs. Jesse Petefish. Mrs. Chester Stewart, Miss Lorene Stewart and Mrs. Harold Stewart.

During the business session announcement was made of the Special Sunrise Easter Services to be held at 6 a.m. at Berea Church. Breakfast will be served by members of the adult Bible class after the service. Easter lilies will be donated for the occasion. The resignation of Rev. Philip Woodward, effective May 16th, was also announced. A farewell dinner will be held in his honor.

Several contests were conducted with prizes going to Mrs. Frank Foster and Mrs. Jesse Petefish. Flowers were exchanged and cookies and eggs for the Christian home in Jacksonville were brought by members.

Refreshments were served and a social hour was enjoyed. The next meeting will be a luncheon celebrating the 60th anniversary of the organization. Mrs. Frank Foster and Mrs. Ralph Robinson will be hostesses.

Underway At Beardstown

BEARDSTOWN — A report from an engineering firm following completion of preliminary surveys here has been relayed by city officials to Oscar Mayer and company in connection with a sewage treatment plant to be furnished by Beardstown as a part of the program for bringing a $5 million industry here.

On the strength of these surveys, Goodell Associates are recommending a lagoon type sewage treatment plant with an outfall sewer connecting with Beardstown's city disposal system.

system. It is estimated this will cost the city $375,000 and that the annual cost to the city will be about $50,000 including bond retirement.

The next step in the project will be made after the engineers report is returned by the Mayer people.

The city council will consider the various recommendations of the engineers regarding location of the treatment plant and routing of the outfall sewer, as well as the passage of three ordinances having to do with sewer and water rate charges.

Mayer, one of the biggest meat packers in the country, proposes to establish a slaughtering industry here and will employ about 200 men at the outset. Mayor Tillitt has said it may be possible to have the plant in production in 18 months.

Goodell recommends the treatment plant be built near the old CB&Q sand quarry adjacent the Mayer setup, and that the sewer follow a "southern route" near the city outskirts to the pumping station and thence to the river "below" Beardstown.

Pre-Schoolers To Register April 15
At Roodhouse

ROODHOUSE — A kindergarten and first grade round-up will be held at 1:30 p.m. Thursday, April 15 at the Roodhouse center for all kindergarten pupils and for first grade pupils who have not been attending kindergarten. The students and others attending will meet in the North Greene Junior High gymnasium.

The purpose of the meeting will be to discuss how the kindergarten and first grades operate and to pre-register the children for next year. Those attending will also be informed about transportation.

Children attending kindergarten next year must be five years old by Dec. 1, 1965. Children attending first grade next year must be six years old by Dec. 1, 1965.

The announcement has been made by Principal B. D. Rendleman.

(mittee: Mrs. O. L. Ferguson, Jr., Mrs. James H. Orr, and Mrs. Ned Hopkins.

Prizes at bridge during the social hour were awarded to Mrs. Forrest Moulton and Mrs. William M. Gilmore.

Sue Ellen Merriman, daughter of the Norris Merrimans of Bluffs and granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pierret of this city, was awarded an "A" for her piano solo in the "B" class in Staunton at the music contest Saturday. She will attend the state music contest on May 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Pierret visited in the home of their daughter and son-in-law and family, Sunday.

WCS UNIT ELECTS
SLATE OF OFFICERS

The Brooklyn church Woman's Society of Christian Service selected new officers during a meeting at the church April 7.

The program and worship service "It Is My Son" was directed by Mrs. Irene Bond, who acted as leader. Mary, mother of Jesus, was portrayed by Mrs. William Smith. Mrs. G. W. Haley, organist, accompanied Mrs. Wilmer Everett and Mrs. Bond in a special musical selection. The program ended with benediction and an organ selection.

Mrs. Everett conducted the business meeting.

Mrs. Charles Huffman, chairman of the nominating committee, announced the slate of officers chosen for the coming year. They are: Mrs. Noel Leitz, president; Mrs. Wilmer Everett, vice president; Mrs. Claude Newby, secretary; Mrs. William Smith, treasurer; Mrs. Charles Huffman, spiritual life chairman; Mrs. Irene Bond, missionary education.

Mrs. Edna Davidsmeyer, literature and program chairman; Mrs. Charles Quigg, promotion; Mrs. G. W. Haley, Christian social relations; Mrs. Wilmer Everett, children's work; Mrs. Claude Newby, youth work; Mrs. Harry Lewis, student work; Mrs. Charles Huffman, supply work; Mrs. Leo Stone and Mrs. Howard Riggs, local church activity.

An installation of officers is planned May 23 during Sunday morning worship service at the church. Rev. G. W. Haley will conduct the installation.

The Alexander Methodist church will host Brooklyn members for the fourth quarterly conference April 21. A pot-luck supper is planned.

Brooklyn church's first burgo of the season is scheduled May 15 and the W.S.C.S. will sponsor a bake sale at that time. Blanket Sunday will be May 2, used clothing is needed.

The next meeting will be held at the church May 4 and will be held as a joint meeting with the Rebecca circle. Mrs. Edna Davidsmeyer and Mrs. A. Willis will be hostesses.

Area Election News Favors Democrats

JACKSONVILLE — There were 274 votes cast in Fidelity Township in the election Tuesday, 121 of which were straight Democratic and 35 straight Republican.

There was opposition in each office, all Democratic candidates being elected. Lee Vanfossen received 187 votes for supervisor and his Republican opponent had 83. For Town clerk Eldon Earl Moore was re-elected with 178 votes and Thelma V. Parsell, Republican received 86. Lena E. Arnold was re-elected Assessor with 167 votes and her Republican opponent Glenn Lehr had 96 votes.

Elected to the Board of Auditors were Henry Craig 190, Bertam Darr, 163 and Elmer Wagenblast 182, all Democrats. Republican candidates were Chas. B. Strunk 87 and Herschel Chandler 106.

In Rosedale Township there were 215 votes cast, 104 being straight Republican and 44 straight Democrats. Clark Le-gate with 136 votes, a Republican won over his Democratic opponent John Powers for Supervisor. Powers vote was 78. Laverne Crull, Republican with 132 votes was reelected Town Clerk and his Democratic opponent Georgia Healey received 74. Laverne Devenport, Republican was unopposed for assessor and polled 137 votes. Republicans captured the posts of Auditors their votes being Leonard Sence 119; Raymond Miles 120 and Herbert S. Dabbs 127. Democrats running for auditors and their votes were Warren Crull 78; Rose Thompson 76 and Clifford Eagleton 78.

In Mississippi Township there were 150 votes cast. The Democrat candidate for town clerk Louis Stumpe, Jr. was reelected with 112 votes and his Republican opponent David C. Barton's vote was 33. The Democrat candidate for Assessor Norma E. Winters received 112 votes, and was unopposed. Democrats elected to board of auditors were John R. Walsh 104, Steve Bray 100 and Theodore Strebel 102. Unsuccessful Republican candidates for auditors were William L. Bauer 40, Theodore L. Greene 38 and Lula M. London 41.

In Otter Creek 274 votes were cast. Clyde W. Cope was re-elected Supervisor with 158 ballots and was the only opposition on the ticket. Republicans unopposed were Donald Pellikan, town clerk, 150; Effie A. Fraley, Assessor 144; and Kearney O. Dabbs, 158, Russell A. Campbell, 150 and Harold Wahle, 155, Auditors.

In Elsie Harold L. Fry, only Democrat on the ticket was elected Assessor, defeating the Republican candidate Albert D. Plagmann. The rest of the slate was unopposed and are all Republican. They are Kathryn Johnson, town clerk; Josephine K. Copeland, Stanley Croxford and Robert L. Lane, Jr. Town auditors.

Virginia

The Virginia Township election was held, Tuesday, April 6. All incumbents were candidates and were elected without opposition: Assessor, Bryon Edwards; Town Clerk, Dorothy Edwards; Board of Directors: Harry Hager, Russell Knight, Frances Ann Mefford.

Carrollton

Six supervisors were elected Tuesday in Greene County and for the first time in the history of Greene County a woman was elected to the position of supervisor. The woman is Mrs. Ruby Postelwait of Kane Township who succeeds Harry Grizzle who was not a candidate for reelection. Mrs. Postelwait had previously held an office in Kane township and had also been employed a few years ago in the office of Finice Doyle, Greene county circuit clerk.

K. S. Wright of Wrightsville Township is also making a record in the county. Wright was reelected supervisor Tuesday for the 11th time having completed 37 years of service to his township on the Board of Supervisors.

Robert Hindelang was elected to the Board in Carrollton Township for the first time. Hindelang is the present supervisor having been appointed to fill the unexpired term of Eugene Batty who resigned in November after his election to the office of Greene County Clerk.

Guy Kinser Sr. of Rubicon township was reelected to office Tuesday having already served nine years. Arnold Hyde of Bluffdale township was elected Tuesday for the first time. Hyde succeeds George Clark who after serving 12 years was not a candidate

ALTAR SOCIETY TO HEAR PROGRAM ON HOLY LAND

The Altar and Rosary Society of Our Saviour parish will meet at 8 P.M. Monday, April 12, in Formaz Hall.

Carl McAdams was reelected in Roodhouse township to begin another term having completed 12 years on the governing board of the county.

The travelogue will be presented at approximately 8:45 P.M. The public is welcome to attend.

Recreational Area Proposed For Canal In Northern Illinois

By DICK EMERY

SPRINGFIELD—Since 1947, the State of Illinois has been studying the possibility of developing the Illinois and Mississippi Canal into a public recreation area.

The 75 mile-long waterway, also known as the Hennepin Canal, links the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers in northwestern Illinois. It was operated by the Federal government as a source of commercial shipping, but became outmoded and was closed to barge traffic in 1951.

In 1947 the Federal government first announced its decision to abandon the canal. Costs of maintenance and operations exceeded benefits to commercial users. The state then began negotiations to acquire ownership.

In 1951 the Federal government said it would dispose of the canal. It had long been popular as a recreational area. Rather than see the canal fall into private hands, the state urged the Federal government to retain control until the state could act.

Commission Formed The Illinois-Mississippi Canal and St. Lawrence Seaway Commission was formed by the 1953 legislature. Since that time it has worked with federal and state officials and private organizations toward rehabilitation of canal and its transfer to the state for a public recreation facility.

A bill now in the House appropriates $15,000 for the continuation of this Commission for another two years. It will report to the General Assembly in 1967.

The bill is now in the House Waterways Committee under the chairmanship of Rep. C. R. "Butch" Ratcliffe, D-Bearsden. Sponsors of the bill include Sens. Robert Welch, D-Canton, Fred Hart, R-Streator, and William Harris, R-Pontiac.

Ownership In December In 1960, a contract was signed by the State and Federal governments providing for turning the canal over to the State. Illinois will assume ownership in December when Army Engineers complete renovation of the canal to make it safe.

Congress has appropriated $2 million to the Corps for this purpose. An additional $800,000 in Federal funds will be spent on the canal after the state takes it over.

The canal was constructed by the Army Engineers between 1892 and 1907, as an alternative to rail freight transportation. There are 32 locks along the main canal, which flows through Rock Island, Henry and Bureau Counties. Water level in this canal is maintained through a 29-mile feeder canal which diverts water from the Rock River at Sterling southward to the main canal.

The feeder canal leaves the Rock River just back of a Federal dam at Sterling. The enlarged portion of the river back of the dam is known as Mississippi Lake, which extends upstream to another dam at Dixon.

The Federal government has been urged to consider reconstructing the canal to meet demands of modern barge traffic. Some groups say that increased commercial shipping on the Illinois and Mississippi Rivers and the St. Lawrence Seaway points to a good future as a commercial canal.

But Uncle Sam doesn't agree. Too costly

An evaluation by the Army Engineers in 1951 showed that costs of reconstruction would outweigh the freight rate savings for canal users. The Army pointed out that the canal is not suitable for modern barge traffic due to its limited dimensions, small, manually operated locks, sharp bends and low bridge clearances.

The controlling depth is only 3 1/2 feet which restricts the canal to lightly loaded barges.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market came to life last week and some Wall Streeters believed it was embarked on a traditional spring rally.

For the first time in more than two weeks, the Dow Jones industrial average poked its head above the "magic" 900 level. The trading week ended with a string of three straight advances.

The general atmosphere of opinion changed radically in the street. Statements by some analysts were quite gloomy as the week started, a few of them freely predicting a sharp "correction." By Friday, however, the market technicians had raised their sights and looked for at least an intermediate rise of healthy proportions.

The Dow Industrials last week rose 7.91 to 901.29.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 3.3 to 336.4, biggest gain since the week ended Feb. 27 when they rose 3.7.

Friday's volume of 6.59 million shares was the best since March 4 when turnover topped seven million.

The week's volume of 26,351,970 shares compared with 23,179,101 the previous week and was the highest since the week ended March 26 when 26,674,970 shares changed hands.

Blue chips as well as a host of "secondary" issues participated in the rise. Of 1,537 issues traded last week on the New York Stock Exchange, 886 rose and 495 fell.

The mood was dampened early in the week by the knowledge that President Johnson planned to make a major policy speech on Viet Nam.

But Johnson's speech struck Wall Street as a moderate and encouraging approach. This, together with the drying-up of tax selling, helped to bolster sentiment.

ment. Britain's austerity program and the firming of the pound also helped, as did a cut in the French bank rate.

The always striking leadership of the "biggest stock," General Motors, began making historic highs.

U.S. Treasury bond prices advanced last week on what investors regarded as good news from abroad. Other bond markets were relatively quiet.

Bond volume on the New York Stock Exchange totaled $47.67 million for the week, compared to $45.9 million the previous week.

Anthony Mitchell To Conduct Navy Band At Concert

Lt. Cmdr. Anthony A. Mitchell, conductor of the world famous United States Navy Band, will again be in the featured spotlight of conducting when the band presents matinee and evening concerts in Jacksonville on May 4, at the high school gym.

Lt. Cmdr. Mitchell served as assistant conductor on both the 1960 and 1961 spring concert tours and conducted all concerts during the past three seasons in 149 cities and 43 states.

Mitchell's rise to the coveted position as leader of the U.S. Navy Band is a success story. Born and raised in Clearfield, Pa., he found it extremely difficult not to become interested in music since his father, an outstanding musician himself, was a strong advocate of a musical background for all his children—all twelve of them.

His chosen instrument was the clarinet and nobody knew to what heights his ability and musicianship would carry him.

He joined the Navy in 1936 and started his musical career at the Navy's school music in Washington, D.C.

Although his new duties with the band became more demanding, he nevertheless found time to attend Catholic University and receive his bachelor of music degree.

He was appointed third leader in July of 1956 and assistant leader in September of 1960. While in that position, he was honored by the District of Columbia for composing the official march of Washington, D.C., entitled "Our Nation's Capital."

He became leader of the band in 1962 and was promoted to the rank of Lieutenant Commander by presidential appointment on March 12, 1964.

Tickets for the Navy band concert will be sold at the Tune Shop, The Drexel, and Walgreen's at Lincoln Square.

Also surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Mary Brodgon of Arenzville and Mrs. Lillian Miller of Danville; four sons, William P. Jacksonville, John L. of Moline, Ill. of Rock Island and Virgil of Danville; one sister, Mrs. Mary Smith of Jacksonville; 15 grandchildren and 28 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 9 a.m. Tuesday at the Church of Our Saviour. Burial will be in Calvary cemetery.

Friends may call Monday afternoon and evening at the Reary Funeral Home where the rosary will be recited at 8 p.m.

GRAVESIDE RITES AT PATTERSON FOR MRS. HATCHER

AMERICAN LEGION AUXILIARY MEETS

ARENZVILLE — The American Legion Auxiliary met on April 5 at the Legion Hall, with 14 members responding to roll call.

The president, Mrs. Helen Wessler, thanked the committee which had taken charge of the Legion's Birthday Party.

A note of thanks from Raymond Jones for the Christmas package which the Auxiliary had sent him was read. Other communications included letters from the State President, Mrs. Gwen Boyd, and the national commander urging members to write to President Johnson protesting the closing of VA hospitals.

A meeting for all Poppy Day chairmen and workers will be held in Mt. Sterling on April 25.

The meeting closed with the hymn, "Christ the Lord is Risen Today," the retirement of colors and the closing order of service.

Hostesses serving refreshments were Mrs. Mildred Kolber, Mrs. Barbara Lawson, and Mrs. Jessie Lee.

LITTLE LEAGUE MEETING

A meeting for all managers and coaches of the Little League baseball teams has been called for Thursday, April 15, 7:45 p.m. The meeting will be held upstairs at the Elks Club.

The League is in need of a manager and several coaches. All interested persons are invited to attend.

Nicklaus Ties Mark With Eight Under

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Big Two challengers from out of the pack — Mason Rudolph, a bespectacled tour veteran from Tennessee, and former U.S. Open champion Gene Littler — joined Nicklaus in a birdie assault on the 6,980-yard, par 72 course and moved into contention.

The superb round, featured by 300-yard drives and putts of phenomenal length without a single bogey, gave the Golden Bear of Columbus, Ohio, a 54-hole score of 202 — five shots for 211 and Littler, canning ahead of South Africa's Gary Player.

Defending champion Arnold Aaron, who chipped in on the Palmer, the other member of the Big Three which started the day head-to-head could do no better than par 72 on the warm, windless day for a 210 total, tied with 34-year-old Dan Sikes of Jacksonville, Fla., for third place.

Jackson, Gibson On The Hill For Season Opener

CHICAGO (AP) — The world champion St. Louis Cardinals, playing under their new manager, Red Schoendienst, and the Chicago Cubs will open the baseball season at Wrigley Field Monday before a crowd that is expected to top 20,000.

Larry Jackson, top winner in the majors in 1964 with a 24-11 record, will pitch for the Cubs against Bob Gibson, the Cards' World Series ace and 19-game winner. Both are right-handers.

Schoendienst will present practically the same line-up that won the pennant and the World Series for Johnny Keane last year. Tim McCarver, the regular catcher, has been out of action with a broken finger and Bob Uecker has been taking his place.

The Cubs, struggling to reach the National League's first division for the first time since 1946, will have several new faces in the line-up. Rookie Roberto Pena from Asheville, N.C. of the Southern League will be at shortstop and Glenn Beckert, another rookie from the Salt Lake City farm club, will be at second base.

George Altman, a former Cub who has returned to the club after playing for the St. Louis Cardinals and New York Mets, will be in left field. Doug Clemens, a former Cardinal who came to Chicago in the Lou Brock deal last June, will be in right field. Billy Williams, usually the left fielder, has moved into center field.

Bob Kennedy, the Cubs' head coach, says his team can match the rest of the league in hitting. Despite the rookie double play combination at second base and the shortstop, Kennedy thinks the Cardinals team will be stronger defensively.

"This is the year the Cubs are going to break out of the second division," said Kennedy.

DRIVER KILLED IN LEMANS TRIAL

LEMANS, France (AP) — Floyd (Lucky) Casner, 35-year-old ex-airline pilot of Miami, was killed Saturday when the Maserati he was driving in the trials for the 24-hour LeMans auto race skidded on the wet track and crashed.

The car landed on a golf course bordering the track and was demolished. Casner was taken to a LeMans clinic, where his death was announced three hours after the accident.

Casner was going about 150 miles an hour and approaching the Mulsanne turn at the end of the longest straight stretch on the course when the accident occurred.

strong that I am using six-irons where normally I'd use a five," the blond blaster said after his round. "I am all pumped up inside."

No man ever played the first 54 holes better in this golf Olympics, started by the immortal Bob Jones in 1934.

The previous best total for three rounds was 205, made by Ben Hogan in his record year of 1953 and duplicated by Palmer in winning the third of his four titles in 1962.

Nicklaus needs only a par 72 Sunday to tie the 274 set by Hogan 12 years ago, when he won the Masters, U.S. Open and British Open in a professional little slam.

Mangrum Holds Mark
Lloyd Mangrum set the single round record with a 64 in the opening round of 1940.

A gay, carnival crowd of 50,000 swarmed over Augusta's resplendent acres for the third round, and big Jack gave them a show they will never forget.

Splitting the broad fairways with cannon shots off the tee and dropping putts of from 15 to 25 feet, the 25-year-old boy wonder played the outgoing nine in 31 shots, tying the record of Cary Middlecoff in 1955.

5 Birdies on 1st Nine
Nicklaus rang in five birdies on the front nine, adding two more on the long par fives of the incoming side and climaxed his birdie streak with a 12-foot putt at the 16th.

He started his charge at the 555-yard second, where he recovered magnificently after sending his drive into a cluster of pine trees to the right of the fairway.

With an opening, he hit a three-iron shot 130 yards short of the green, chipped to within 25 feet and sank the putt for the first of his birdies.

Then he was off winging. He knocked in a 15-foot putt at the fourth, canned a 20-footer at the 100-yard sixth and put his approach within 18 inches of the cup at the seventh. On the eighth, he almost knocked in an eagle with a 60-foot putt uphill but settled for his third straight bird.

Powerful drives enabled him to birdie both the 13th and 15th. Nicklaus acknowledged that he used five-iron second shots on these holes, measuring 475 and 520 yards, respectively.

Nicklaus, Masters winner in 1963 and past winner of both the Open and PGA championship, shrugged off references to his bid for Hogan's scoring title.

Not Interested in Records
"I only want to win," he said. "I'm not interested in records or wide margins. I'll be happy to win by a shot."

Player turned in 34, with birdies at the third and seventh, but lost a shot at the par three 12th where he missed the green and chipped long.

Then, after looking at the big red numerals mount on the scoreboard, he buckled down and birdied the 13th, 15th and 18th. He sank a 12-footer on the final hole.

The adrenalin that had Nicklaus charging never found its way to Palmer, playing an hour behind his rival for world honors.

While Arnie's Army suffered and groaned, Palmer took bogeys on the two par three holes of the front nine — the fourth and sixth — but snapped back with birdies at the seventh and eighth.

He bogied his third straight par three at the 12th, again missing the green, but got it back with a birdie at the 13th and then parred in the rest of the way.

Two of the year's most successful players — Doug Sanders and Bill Casper — were tied at 215. Casper, leading over-all money winner and scoring average pace setter, shot 71. Sanders, only player to win two tournaments this season, had a 74.

Champagne Tony Lema, the British Open champion, who started the day just two shots away from the Big Three of Nicklaus, Player and Palmer, saw his game collapse on a faulty putter. He bogied three holes in a row, wound up with a 77 for 217.

Gay Hurls Shutout As Clan Splits Two

PINE BLUFF, Arkansas — Bob Gay twirled a masterful five-hitter in the nightcap for a 1-0 MacMurray victory and a Clan split of a twinbill with Arkansas AM&N, after the hosts nipped Mac 2-1 in eight innings in the opener, here Saturday afternoon.

Hits were scarce all day for both outfits, as MacMurray had a no-hitter tossed at them by Arkansas' Ed Holmes. Their lone run came on a walk, a stolen base, an error and a fielder's choice.

Tom Styczen worked a six-hitter in the opener and retired 13 men in a row from the third through the eighth until Arkansas scored an unearned tally in the 8th for the victory.

While Gay was holding the hosts scoreless in the nightcap through the seven frames, notching five strikeouts and giving up three free passes, his teammates provided the only run he needed in the sixth. Rich Nichols reached first on an infield boot, stole second and third, and following a walk to John Wittlieb, scored on a double steal. Mac got only four hits in the game.

The Highlanders, on the first stop of their Southern trip, took a 1-0 lead in the first game when Tom Zurkammer walked, stole second, Bob Gav reached first on an error, and Zurkammer scored on a fielder's choice. The winning came in the extra frame on a sacrifice fly by Arkansas.

Styczen gave up six hits, all in the first three frames, and retired 13 straight from the third on, only to lose on Mac errors in the eighth.

Indoor baseball in Houston's domed stadium, prospects of another wild scramble in the National League and danger signs for the New York Yankees add zest to the new baseball season opening Monday on nine fronts.

Tired of waiting in the wings for the presidential gala at Washington and Cincinnati's traditional opener, most of the other clubs also will start playing for keeps Monday. The Chicago White Sox and Baltimore Orioles will be the only idle teams. They open Tuesday at Baltimore.

The six day games and three night games Monday are expected to draw about 268,000 fans, but the weatherman holds the key every place—except Houston.

The Yankees, as usual, are favored to win the American League pennant. They're shooting for an unprecedented sixth straight. But all is not well in CBS-land.

Mickey Mantle's aching legs have been shifted to left field. Cleve Boyer and, until last Thursday, Roger Maris, had nonbaseball problems on their minds. Whitey Ford has been bombed steadily. Manager Johnny Keane, who pulled the feat of the year in 1964 by winning a pennant and World Series in St. Louis and then shifting to the Yankees, has had some disturbing experiences.

Give Added Hope
All of which has given new hope to the Orioles and White Sox, regarded as the two prime contenders, as well as to the longer shots like Detroit, Cleveland, Minnesota and even the Los Angeles Angels. Boston, Washington and Kansas City have only an academic interest

Matson Dominant

LAWRENCE, Kan. (AP) — Dominant figure of the 40th Kansas Relays will be 19-year-old James Randal Matson, world shot put record holder. The Texas A&M sophomore seems certain to throw the first 70-footer in track history.

Wonderous Randy, a 260-pounder, threw the 16-pound ball 67 feet 11 1/4 inches on his final throw in a quadrangular meet Friday night at College Station, Tex. This surpassed the 67-10 by his conqueror in the Olympics, Dallas Long. In the Texas Relays April 3, Matson missed the world mark by one inch.

Matson might set another new world shot put mark Saturday in the Kansas games. He's also a heavy favorite in the discus Friday. His best of 189-1 1/2 is more than 11 feet beyond the meet record set by former Kansas athlete Al Oerter, Olympic champion in 1956, 1960 and 1964.

The talented field will include 15 of the 24 individual and team champions from the Texas Relays, plus the most outstanding athlete of the past two Kansas games — Missouri's Robin Lingle, the winner in 1963.

Eight Others Broken
Eight meet records already have been surpassed and four put in danger by the field, which includes powerful squads from New Mexico, Southern Illinois and Abilene Christian. Big Ten indoor champ Wisconsin, NCAA indoor champ Missouri and the potent Big Eight and Southwest Conference schools.

All seven university baton events should be sizzlers. Missouri's two-mile team, down to 7:20.6 last year compared to the world record of 7:19, is behind schedule due to illness. At Texas, Oklahoma State edged Missouri in 7:24 despite Lingle's 1:49.8.

The Kansas Relays mark of 7:24.2 seems certain to go. Lingle may have to match his 4:01 mile here last year to beat Kansas in either the distance medley or four-mile. He ran 4:04 at Texas but Kansas won.

Favorite in the Glenn Cunningham Mile will be John Camien of Emporia, Kan. State, who ran 4:01.7 twice indoors. The meet mark is 4:03.1. Jim Ryan of Wichita, Kan., East High School — the nation's top prep miler — will run Friday. He reached 3:59 in a non-pret meet last year and holds the official prep mark of 4:04.4.

HILL NABS RACE FIRST
SNETTERTON, England (AP) — Britain's Graham Hill, driving a Brabham BRM, won a two-part international Formula 1 II auto race Saturday after a battle with two other former world driving champions, Jim Clark and Jack Brabham.

Perhaps the most interesting off-season trades were the deals that brought Dick Stuart to the Phillies and big Frank Howard to Washington.

Stuart, who drove Johnny Pesky crazy at Boston with his erratic fielding, is the Phil's new home run punch at first. Howard and Ken McMullen, who also came to Washington from the Dodgers in the Claude Osteen deal, are regulars along with Bob Chance, acquired from Cleveland in the Chuck Hinton swap.

Calavito Back Home
Of course, Rocky Calavito is back home in Cleveland and Jim (I want to be traded) Landis did get traded by the White Sox to Kansas City.

Among the rookies who have attracted attention in the spring games are center fielder Paul Blair of Baltimore, center fielder Ken Berry of the White Sox, left fielder Jim Northrup of Detroit, second baseman Jim LeFebvre of the Dodgers shortstop Roberto Pena and second baseman Glenn Beckert of the Chicago Cubs and center fielder Jose Cardenal, first baseman Costen Shockley and third baseman Paul Schaaf of the Los Angeles Angels.

The Phillies, who came so close last year, help Houston open its new Astrodome in the only night game in the National League.

The defending champion Cardinals will be at Chicago, where World Series star Bob Gibson will oppose the top winner of 1964, Larry Jackson.

Milwaukee will help the Reds stage their traditional opener before a full house and Willie Mays and Co. of the Giants will open at Pittsburgh. The Dodgers, substituting Don Drysdale for Koufax as the starter, are

Frick Looks Back At His 14 Years

By FORD FRICK
Commissioner of Baseball
(Written for the Associated Press)

I am coming to the end of the road after 14 years in office so it might be appropriate to look back at what has happened and to try to peer ahead.

There is no reason not to be optimistic. Attendance has grown year by year. There is more participation by the youngsters. What has happened and what will happen as people have more and more leisure time is a diversification of interest. People used to work a six-day week with two weeks off in the summer. Now they have more time and more money for spectator sports.

I see no threat in professional football or basketball. There is a place for each and each can grow without being a serious threat to the other.

I won't be around when it happens but I believe additional expansion is inevitable. I think it is much nearer than many want to admit. It is time that baseball recognized this and set up the ground rules. Perhaps they should set up a period of a minimum of two years after a city is selected before the club actually would operate. In the meantime, the new group could operate a minor league team or teams and sign its own players who would be free from the draft. The year before the city was to operate each of the existing teams would designate 15 untouchables and let the new teams each take one from its regular 25-player list. This is no

Rousseau's Goal Paces Montreal Near Playoffs

MONTREAL (AP) — Bobby Rousseau's tie-breaking goal in the third period paced Montreal to a 3-1 decision over Toronto Saturday night, and moved the Canadiens within one victory of a spot in the final round of the National Hockey League playoffs.

The victory gave the Canadiens a 3-2 margin over the Maple Leafs in their best-of-seven games Stanley Cup semifinal series. The sixth game will be played at Toronto Tuesday night. The Leafs have won three straight post-season titles, eliminating Montreal in the semifinals in each of the last two years.

Rousseau snapped a 1-1 deadlock at 7:30 of the third period and Montreal captain Jean Beliveau scored an insurance goal — into an open Toronto net — with just 44 seconds remaining.

It was the ninth victory in a row for home clubs in the playoffs. Toronto had taken two straight at home after the Canadiens won the first two games at Montreal. Detroit and Chicago have divided four home-ice victories in their semifinal set.

Rousseau's second game-winning goal of the series came on a pass from defenseman Ted Harris while each club had a man in the penalty box. Beliveau clinched the verdict at 19:16 with the Leafs' goalie Johnny Bower out of his cage in favor of a sixth skater.

The Canadiens had cashed in on a two-man advantage to tie the score 1-1 with 12:05 gone in the second period after Bob Pulford put Toronto ahead early in the period.

Central's Hogan To Attend Regis

Dennis Hogan of Central of Camp Point, after talking with Coach Mick Pahl from Regis College in Denver, Colorado has decided to attend Regis next year.

Pahl who previously coached at Kankakee and Triad has been scouting in Illinois and has recruited five or six fine basketball players. Pahl was extremely happy to get Hogan who has helped Central to a 60-18 record over the last three years under Coach Con Galloway. He has led the team in scoring and rebounding with new school records in each.

doing the Mets no favor for their opener at Shea Stadium. If the remnants of winter have drained away the Yanks will open defense of the American league pennant in Minnesota. The presidential opener in Washington finds the Boston Red Sox matched with the new-look Senators.

In the two American League night games it will be Detroit at Kansas City, where Charlie Finley will unveil his new mule mascot, and Cleveland at Los Angeles.

The lone Tuesday opener will be a day game at Baltimore, where the Yanks' top challengers, the White Sox and Orioles, will start cutting up one another on the IC Campus.

campaign, just a rough idea of how it might work out.

Sees League Divisions
I do think that baseball will come to two 12-club major leagues with each league divided into two six-team divisions. In that manner they can return to the old 154-game schedule. I do not think it would be practical to have three leagues because it would be difficult to convince any of the existing teams they should move into the third league with the new gate admission.

Television has developed so rapidly that we must guard against its increasing threat to swallow up the game. Important as television is, important as television's dollars may become, baseball cannot afford now or ever, to allow television or any other outside agency to dictate procedures, business policies, schedules or other operations.

Clan Track Squad Sets Three Marks

CRAWFORDSVILLE, Ind. — hurdles by the group of Pin MacMurray relay teams set one meet record and two school marks here Saturday in the 17-team Wabash Relays. The Highlanders took two firsts, a second and a third in the six running events entered.

No official team standings are kept in the annual affair, but Mac came home in a tie with Valparaiso for fourth. Earham was figured for 21 points, Wheaton 17 and Butler 16.

The 440-yard relay team from Mac took a first and set a meet and school mark with a blazing time of :44. The team is composed of Jim Hargrave, Rich Pincusky, Dave Bucher and Ron Orr.

The other first was turned in by the 680-yard intermediate

Fly Balls Pose Question Mark In New Stadium

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
If major league baseball players miss four fly balls when there is very little sun in Houston's $31.6 million Domes Stadium, how many will they miss when the sun shines brightly?

That was a pertinent question Saturday after Houston defeated Baltimore 11-8 in the first day-light game played in the new park.

The day was overcast with little sun shining through the dome, but two Orioles and two Astros had trouble with four of the 24 balls hit into the air.

Left fielders Boog Powell of Baltimore and Mike White of Houston each misjudged a fly, with the balls falling behind them for hits. Oriole catcher John Orsino couldn't make a try for a pop foul behind the plate because he didn't see it.

Center fielder Jim Wynn of the Astros got his glove on a fly but was unable to hold it. Wynn collected four hits in the game while teammate Jim Beaucamp drove in six runs, three with a three-inning homer.

Dick Stuart's three-run double in the fifth inning powered Philadelphia to a 6-2 victory over Pittsburgh. Stuart's blast came after Steve Blass walked the bases full. Wes Covington added a two-run homer in the sixth.

Vada Pinson celebrated the birth of his daughter with a three-run homer and a run-producing double in Cincinnati's 7-2 triumph over the Chicago White Sox.

Curt Flood and Lou Brock homered as St. Louis defeated Kansas City 6-4.

The Los Angeles Dodgers took advantage of 12 walks and stole five bases in snapping Washington's five-game winning streak 7-4. Pitcher Claude Osteen, a former Senator, rapped two hits in picking up the victory.

Rain washed out San Francisco and Cleveland.

MACMURRAY COLFERS ARE BLANKED, 15-0

PINE BLUFF, Arkansas — Arkansas AM&N blanked the MacMurray golfers here Saturday afternoon in a 15-0 dual meet triumph.

RECOGNITION NIGHT

A basketball recognition banquet honoring Illinois College basketball players will be held Monday night in Baxter Hall on the IC Campus.

Started On Problem
We have made a start on solving our television problem with the new game-of-the-week telecasts in which the receipts will be divided evenly among the 18 participating teams. Perhaps the time will come when we limit the number of games to be seen nationally or even in the local area. Perhaps it will be eventually to give the regular team a share of the regular television receipts as we have done for years in the case of gate admission.

We are in need of legislation to establish common exemptions for all spectator sports to conduct the unusual phases of our operations.

The present sports bill before Congress is a good bill. It would place baseball and other sports under the antitrust laws but would exempt such practices as the reserve clause, the draft, waivers and territorial rights.

Tom Rolfe Ist In Chesapeake Stakes Event

LAUREL, Md. (AP) — Tom Rolfe served notice Saturday that he is not to be overlooked in the May 1 running of the Kentucky Derby by posting a convincing triumph in the $34,025 Chesapeake Stakes at Laurel Race course.

Tom Rolfe came from off the pace, took the lead in the final one-eighth of the 1 1/16 miles and pulled away for a 2 1/4 length decision over Isle of Greece, winner of Bowie's Governor's Gold Cup for Mrs. Ethel Jacobs, and also a Derby eligible.

Calumet Farm's Republican Way, not named for any of the Triple Crown events, was third in the eight-horse field.

Tom Rolfe earned $22,116 and paid $4.40, $2.40 and $2.20 as the choice of the crowd of 18,412.

His time over a track rated as good was 1:38 3/5 after trailing the pace that saw the first quarter-mile ripped off by Golden Joey in 23 seconds, the half in 47 1/5 and the six furlongs in 1:13 1/5. Isle of Greece was in front at the mile post, with a 1:38 3/5 clocking.

Tom Rolfe, carrying the silks of Raymond Guest's Powhatan stable of Virginia, was slow getting under way but rounding the turn into the home stretch he was a running horse under Ron Turcotte.

With one-quarter mile remaining he was battling Isle of Greece for the lead. With only one-eighth to go he stuck his head in front and pulled away under the beat of Turcotte's whip.

SLATE OPENING DAY SCHEDULES

NEW YORK (AP) — Monday is only the first of seven opening days for baseball before all of the 20 clubs will have played their first home games.

Nine openers are slated for Monday and Baltimore will complete the first round Tuesday. Philadelphia will open Wednesday and Milwaukee and St. Louis in the National League and Chicago in the American on Thursday. Boston opens at Fenway Park Saturday, April 17.

The program will be completed when the Los Angeles Dodgers and San Francisco open Tuesday April 20 and the New York Yankees, Cleveland and Detroit play at home Wednesday, April 21.

PINSON CELEBRATES IN 7-2 REDS EDGE

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Vada Pinson, whose wife gave birth to a daughter earlier in the day, celebrated with a three-run homer and a run-scoring double off John Buzhardt Saturday as Cincinnati defeated the Chicago White Sox 7-2 in an exhibition baseball game.

Jerry Arigo, bidding for a starting job on the Reds' pitching staff, held the Sox to four singles in the first six innings. Bill McCool and Roger Craig buried hitless ball the rest of the way before the largest crowd to see either club this spring — 10,377.

The Sox scored their first run on three singles in the opening inning and added only one

See Braves As Potent NL Threat

WEST PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — The last games the Braves played in Milwaukee could be the World Series.

This is the Braves' 13th and final season in Milwaukee. They will be playing their home games in Atlanta in 1966.

It is surprising how many experts regard the Braves as the team to beat for the National League pennant. There's no doubting the club's power. It scored the most runs in the league last year, was first in team batting and second in fielding.

Manager Bobby Bragan, however, speaks with cautious enthusiasm.

"Everyone likes to be respected," he said, "but I'd like to get a few answers first before I lay claim to any pennants."

"First, I'd like to know that Henry Aaron will be able to play 150 games for us."

Aaron, perhaps baseball's most dangerous hitter, is recovering from surgery for removal of a small bone chip from his ankle. It is feared he may miss the first three weeks of the season.

Need More Experience
"I'd like to know that our young starting staff has acquired confidence from the experience it gained last year."

Only the last-place New York Mets pitchers had an earned run average higher than the Braves' 4.11. The front line consists of right-handers Tony Cloninger, Hank Fischer and Bob Sadowski and left-handers Benny Lemaster and Wade Blasingame. Blasingame is the youngest at 21, Sadowski the oldest at 27.

"I'd like to know that Sandy Alomar will give Frank Bolling a real run for the second base job," said Bragan.

Bragan, on the theory that Bolling is no longer a full-time performer, is counting on Alomar for insurance.

"I'd like to know that our best defensive lineup is one which has Felipe Alou at first base, Lee Maye in center and Rico Carty in left."

Alou is the club's best defensive center fielder but he can play first better than any one else except Joe Torre, whom Bragan wants full-time at catcher.

Aaron, when he becomes available, third baseman Eddie Matthews, Torre, Carty, Maye, Alou and shortstop Dennis Menke, give the Braves the best scoring machine in the league.

Simmons, Taylor Hurl 6-4 Triumph

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals combined the pitching of Curt Simmons and Ron Taylor with home runs by Curt Flood and Lou Brock for a 6-4 exhibition victory over Kansas City Saturday.

The victory lifted the world's champions over the 500 level at 14-13 for the spring, with one game left with the A's here Sunday. The A's are 6-17.

Simmons was the winning pitcher in relief of starter Bob Gibson. Taylor pitched three innings of one-hit, shutout relief ball.

The Cardinals jumped ahead 2-0 in the second on Ken Boyer's double, Dick Groat's single and Julian Javier's grounder off starter and loser, Orlando Pena.

The A's tied it 2-2 in the second when Ken Harrelson doubled. Catcher Bill Gryan greeted Simmons with a two-run homer.

Flood's solo homer in the third put the Cardinals ahead to stay.

Giles Optimistic For NL Year, Sees Another Tight Race

By WARREN C. GILES
President National League
(Written for The Associated Press)

CINCINNATI (AP) — Never in my 29 years in the National League — and more specifically during the 14 years as president — have I seen more justified optimism than that which permeated the spring training season this year.

I've become known as the perennial optimist in recent years but the type of pennant races we've been enjoying has made such optimism widespread throughout the National League.

But now, as we prepare for our 90th season I can honestly say that all the ingredients are present for what could be the greatest pennant race in history. That was the unanimous opinion of all the persons with whom I visited on a tour of the training camps.

Most baseball personnel, writers and broadcasters said much the same thing in discussing the 1965 National League season: "I just don't know which club to pick."

Great Balance Of Power
Naturally, that's the key factor in anticipating an exciting and hard-fought pennant race. The wonderful balance of power which has existed in our league in recent years is best evidenced by the fact that no club has won two straight pennants in the last five years and that the five different clubs have won the flag in that period.

Red Schoendienst, manager of the defending champion St. Louis Cardinals, knows this fact of life as do his players. They know, that with the steady improvement of the Mets and Astros, there is no soft touch in the league and that the stiffest possible competition will be forthcoming from the Phillies, Reds, Giants, Braves, Dodgers, Pirates and Cubs.

It might be too much to hope for a repetition of the finish we had last year when four clubs still held a chance to win, or tie, on the second last day of the season.

However, I do believe we may enjoy a better over-all race from start to finish this year. Remember that the Phillies were so far ahead of the second-place club in 1964 during all of August and half of September, that there really wasn't too much excitement in the race. They held leads of four games on Aug. 15, 5½ games on Aug. 31 and six games on Sept. 15. I don't look for any club to open up such gaps this year.

Fans Have Responded
The fans have responded to our thrilling races in recent years by making the turnstiles spin. We've seen an attendance record set during each of the past three seasons and have drawn a mighty impressive total of 34,787,576 paid admissions in those three years.

With the opening of the fabulous new Domed Stadium in Houston this year, and the anticipation of another National League dogfight, I have every reason to hope that we might set an attendance record for the fourth consecutive year. The Astrodome was the No. 1 topic of conversation everywhere I visited this spring and everyone is looking forward eagerly to seeing baseball played indoors. I certainly am.

Redshirt Advocate
Pleads For The 5th

By LOU MAYSEL
Special to Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

AUSTIN, Texas — (NEA) — A recent NEA sports editorial on the redshirting of college football players is the same distortion of fact usually associated with fifth year players.

I have been close to Southwest Conference football and the University of Texas for the last nine years, and just about every fifth year athlete I've seen has benefited from his third season of eligibility in his fifth year.

First of all, the thinking that a boy was actually withheld when he was good enough to play as a sophomore is the wrong interpretation to put on it.

Rarely, yea very rarely, is this the case. Of the 25 to 30 boys Darrell Royal has had at Texas who were redshirts, only two or three might have played as sophomores.

One such boy is Olen Underwood, who signed with the New York Giants this past January. Last year when he finished his junior year, he wasn't even drafted by either league, although he could have gone as a future. He might have played as a sophomore but he was being converted to line-backer guard from fullback, which he played in high school and as a freshman. And he needed the extra time to learn the job.

Royal's practice, and that by coaches in this region, is to withhold only when the boy accepts the suggestion. Tommy Wade, trying to make the Pittsburgh Steelers, said "no" and was used some 17 minutes as a soph. If he'd stayed over and quarterbacked last year's Texas team, he might have made a mint signing, since he's got an arm second only to Joe Namath.

Now for the idea that classroom space is at a premium—true, but I can't think of a single Texas player who went into pro ball these nine years I've been in Austin who didn't have to come back for at least one semester to finish.

Some few athletes do finish in four years. The vast majority don't. Some are in five-year courses to begin with (the engineering courses are all practically five-year courses.) If for some reason an athlete drops a course or two, fails a class or takes a lighter load than the normal 15 hours in any one semester, he has either to come back a fifth year, go to summer school or double up with a heavier load some spring.

How does a redshirt happen? He happens the same way a taxi-squad player happens in pro football, which is a redshirt program that is far more systematic than the college version.

So the Big Ten and the Ivy don't redshirt. These are places where the academic people, blinder to college athletics than the writer of the editorial, are kicking athletes around. They don't redshirt but grant a fifth year hardship case at the drop of a hat. Or at least the Big Ten does.

So what's really wrong with a boy coming up to a fifth year of college athletics when his schooling requires a fifth fall? The only thing that has held him back is the fact that the coach had 35 to 40 better boys his sophomore year and couldn't spend the time to get him ready to play college football.

Why legislate him out on some moral basis just when he's ready to get the third year for which he worked so hard?

EX RECORD HOLDER DIES
BURLINGTON, Vt. (AP) — Albert L. Gutterson of Springfield, Vt., former holder of the Olympic broad jump record, is dead at the age of 77.

Gutterson, who jumped 24 feet 11½ inches in the 1912 games in Stockholm, Sweden, died Tuesday in Mary Fletcher Hospital.

Between You'n' Me Behind The Yuk-Yuks

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (NEA) — The camera crews were clambering all over Al Lang Field for one of those documentaries which will help sell Busch Bavarian. Quietly, the St. Louis Cardinals, owned by Gussie Busch, took their places.

At home plate, catcher Tim McCarver cupped his hand to his mouth and roared, "All right, everybody — quiet on the set!"

Late last summer, when the Cardinals were driving for the pennant, they were on a bus from the airport in San Francisco to the downtown hotel. It was one of those well-glassed jobs; all pedestrian traffic stopped as the bus cruised down Market St. At a window sat a passenger wearing a hideous monster mask — Tim McCarver.

McCarver was rehabilitating himself from a 229 performance at Charleston. Sadecki, already a front-line big league pitcher, was sent down for disciplinary reasons. Last summer, they both hit it big, Sadecki as a 20-game winner for the champs, McCarver as the guy who'll be catching All-Star games from now on.

But there's no smugness in Tim. As he sat expansively in the Cardinal dugout, taking a breather, Sadecki walked by. "My idol," sighed the pitcher. "Spell it 'd-l-e.'"

Jay Hook Happy As An Engineer With Chrysler

DETROIT (AP) — Youthful Jay Hook, his major league pitching career behind him, is quite happy these days as a research engineer at Chrysler Corp.

The 28-year-old right-hander joined the auto firm last February after deciding to end his baseball career.

"I just sat down one day last winter and did some serious thinking about my baseball future," explained Hook.

Hook was signed to a $60,000 bonus contract in 1957 while a student at Northwestern University.

In the intervening years, Hook pitched for three National League clubs — Cincinnati, New York and Milwaukee — and for Nashville and Seattle in the minors.

Hook, interviewed at his desk in Detroit, was plagued by a knee injury last season in which he was with the Mets and the Braves.

Offered Contract
"I was offered a contract with Atlanta for this season and while it was a good offer, I decided it was time to think about my family and the future," he added.

"I got my degree in mechanical engineering from Northwestern in 1959 and always had been interested in autos, so when a friend of mine suggested I try Chrysler I did so and here I am," he explained.

Looking back at his National League career, Hook said the one thing that puzzled him was the inconsistency of his pitching during his five years in the majors. In his pro career he had a record of 29 wins and 62 losses.

"One day I'd really have it, the next time out I'd get clobbered," he said. "I felt I was in good shape, but some days I got hit pretty good."

"I wanted to be a great pitcher but when I realized I couldn't attain that goal, I decided it was time to leave baseball," he added.

ELECT SENIORS PRESIDENT
CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — George Haggarty, a Detroit corporation lawyer, was elected president of the American Seniors Golf Association Wednesday.

Other officers: Jack Russell of Clearwater, vice president; Ogden Risley, Excelsior Springs, Mo., treasurer; and Edwin Titus, Grand Blanc, Mich., secretary.

HUNT NOT RESPONDING
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — Ron Hunt's injured finger is not responding to treatment and the New York Mets' All-Star second baseman undoubtedly will miss the opening of the baseball season next Monday.

The club announced Wednesday that Hunt is flying to New York to have his injury examined by Dr. Peter La Motte, team physician.

Ballplayers Now Have To Think Of Eventual Retirement: Lynch

By SANDY PADWE
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

NEW YORK — (NEA) — High above Park Avenue in the executive offices of the Weyerhaeuser Co., defensive halfback Dick Lynch of the New York Giants sat in a corner office with wall-to-wall carpeting, talking about football images.

"It's changing," he said. "It's like going from prop planes to jets and now to missiles. If you really want to know how much, look at the contracts those kids are signing — $400,000, $200,000."

But then what do I do? "I don't finish my career and walk into a company like this and tell them I played five years as a defensive back for the New York Giants."

"They'll just look back at me and say, 'We don't need any defensive backs right now.'"

At Notre Dame, Lynch was a business administration major who learned quickly it wouldn't be easy to mix athletic and academic lives.

"I'll never forget my first semester," he said with a laugh. "I got a 79 and four 70s. Moose Krause (the athletic director) called me in to talk about my marks."

"He said I'd have to hustle to make my average. You need a 77 to play football. I told him I was really trying and asked him for advice. So he looks down at my marks and says, 'Hm, one 79, four 70s. You're spending too much time on one subject. Spread it out a little.'"

Dick wound up with a four-year average of 83 and some definite views about the future. "I wasn't even thinking about playing professional football," he said. "I had a job lined up with one of the encyclopedia companies."

The Washington Redskins had drafted him, though, so he went to camp and made the club. In 1959 he was traded to New York. Coach Allie Sherman introduced Lynch to a friend in the graphic arts field, and Dick had another vocation.

"I approach my clients with the thought that they don't need Dick Lynch, but they might need his product," he said.

"Even during the season I work on my accounts. I have a phone in my room during training camp and I'm in touch almost every day."

"Ballplayers are a working group now. Little by little they're all going to have their own phones at training camp."

Bo: Baseball Is A 'Snipey' Game

By AL CARTWRIGHT
Special to Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

CLEARWATER, Fla. — (NEA) — Come with us to the magical land of Bo Belinsky.

What do you want to know about the Phillies' new pitcher-playboy? Ask him and he'll tell you.

His turning pro? "I can look back on it two ways—bitter and funny. Once I tried out the American Legion team in Trenton, N. J., but I was 16 so they cut me. The Pirates signed me. No bonus, no nothing. I look at the contract and I thought it says $185 a week. I look again and the $185 is for a month. I either go away to play ball or hang around Trenton robbing old ladies of their pocketbooks or holding up drug stores. Not literally, though."

His debut? "They put me on a bus for Brunswick, Ga. I took my pool cue, and it saved me. Without that I would have been on the corner eating cupcakes. I take on the town hustlers. I win quarters, halves; that was big money."

And then? "It was easy for them to release me in a couple of months. I was nothing exceptional. I go home and get a job in a pottery factory, in the yard gang wrestling 100-pound bags of clay. It matured my body."

Next chapter? "I got an offer from Pensacola. The Orioles bought me. I had no burning desire to be a big leaguer. Then the Angels draft me from Rochester."

Your success secret? "When I made it with the Angels, they didn't tutor me. I did it by myself, and it's still that way. The Phillies are concerned with winning the pennant and not with the character of a player. Ballplayers are a little old-ladyish, you know."

Occupational hazards? "Baseball is a snipey game."

TIGER TIRED OF WAITING
NEW YORK (AP) — Dick Tiger, the former world middleweight boxing champion, is tired of waiting for Joey Giardello to give him a return bout so he is ready to move up to the light heavyweight class.

Tiger has picked Wayne Thornton as the ranking 175-pounder he would like to fight en route to a title match with Jose Torres, the new champion. The Nigerian probably would have to give away 10 pounds or more to Thornton but he is willing to take his chance.

Torres, a former middleweight, took the world lightweight honors from Willie Pastrano in Madison Square Garden last week.

Improvement Key Word In AL Race This Year: Cronin

By JOSEPH E. CRONIN
American League President Written For

The Associated Press
BOSTON (AP) — Improvement is the watchword for the 1965 American League baseball season which opens Monday.

It's said that tradition demands that a league president predict a close pennant race before every opener. If so, the tradition will not be shattered, nor even dented, at this time.

Not after last year's American League race which was not decided until the second to last day of the championship campaign and which found just two games separating the top three teams in the final standings.

Not after a view of the heartwarming evidence of improvement in so many teams during our recently completed spring training tour.

Improvement? To cite some baseball history, the 1924 Philadelphia Athletics finished in fifth place, soared to second in 1925, then continued as a contender, or actual pennant winner, for eight ensuing seasons.

The potential for the same sort of rapid advancement is evident in at least two, maybe more, of our present-day teams.

Cleveland Also Strong
The Cleveland Indians, with the help of wintertime trades, boast a power-packed array. Minnesota, a club with proven power, gives good indication that a desired balance of better pitching and defense will be achieved this season.

Of course, the Detroit Tigers need only to continue the fine play demonstrated in the latter part of 1964 to improve their position immensely in 1965. The Tigers, in addition, share bountifully in another bumper crop of fine young ball players giving new and justified hope to all clubs.

To improve upon the amazing success the Los Angeles club has known since its comparatively recent entry into the league, the Angels count upon pitching performances to approach those turned in by the brilliant Dean Chance. A comeback by Ken McBride or a Chance-like advancement by Fred Newman are definite possibilities.

Red Sox Mystery Team
The Boston Red Sox have been classified as a mystery team. But ever-improving youngsters like Tony Conigliaro, Bob Tilton and Carl Yastrzemski, with a Dick Radatz always ready in the bullpen, can unravel many mysteries as the season progresses.

The Washington and Kansas City clubs have altered their images since last season. The slugging Senators and built-for-speed Athletics can cause considerable trouble throughout the league and enjoy the rewards of a climb in the standings over their 1964 finishes as well.

The defending champion and contenders from last season's spectacular pennant fight—the Yankees, White Sox and Orioles, in order of 1964 finish—are certain to play similar roles this year.

The solid Yankees are the team to beat.

Chisox Pitching Tough
Chicago's outstanding pitching corps should have its effectiveness increased by better catching, the full-season presence of Bill Skowron's power and the impending emergence to recognize stardom of Pete Ward.

Baltimore can count logically on a return to 1963 form by Steve Barber to round out its excellent mound staff.

And for the Orioles, as for just about each team in the league, there is the possibility of the emergence of another Wally Bunker, the rookie who won 19 games last season.

On the mound, at the plate and in the field, the training camps this spring abounded with potential bunkers.

Proud as we are of the Mickey Mantles, Al Kalines, Camilo Pascuals and many other great veteran American League stars, the influx of outstanding young players during the last three seasons has been cause for pleasure.

The pattern promises to continue this year.

As much as anything else, this gives good reason for baseball fans to look forward to an exciting 1965 American League campaign.

Domed Stadium Awes Big Crowd At 1st Opening

HOUSTON, Tex., (AP) — The Houston Astros open the National League season Monday night, meeting Philadelphia in a stadium that now belongs in the category of the fabulous.

The domed stadium, a $31.6 million structure built for baseball, football, boxing and other sports, had its coming out party Friday night.

It spreads over nine acres, is so high ball players can't hit a baseball against the ceiling and its builders call it the eighth wonder of the world.

It awed the crowd of almost 48,000 that turned out for its opening—an exhibition game between the Astros and the New York Yankees, which Houston won 2-1, in 12 innings.

There were 150 writers here from all over the country to see the fantastic stadium—the first one built for indoor professional baseball—and their responses were most enthusiastic.

Fred Russell of the Nashville Banner said "for night games the playing conditions are so perfect and the setting so colorfully spectacular that it all seems unreal."

Worth Hard Work
"This was the reward for five years and more of tedious, often trying, waiting, and it was worth every second of it. This was baseball in a grand opera house setting, what will come to be accepted as the greatest stage on which the game ever has been presented," said Clark Nealon of the Houston Post.

Joe Trimble of the New York Daily News said "the Astrodome is the Taj Mahal of sport—the finest edifice I've ever seen in 30 years on the beat."

Yankee players had some significant statements and Bobby Richardson, a member of the Association of Christian Athletes looked at the walls and declared: "what I like best about this place is no beer ads."

Jim Bouton, Yankee pitcher, declared "Jules Verne must have built this place."

Elston Howard, Yankee catcher, said "this is the nicest place I ever saw."

But some of the Yankees didn't particularly care for the club house quarters. They expected better when they compared them to the magnificent stadium, they said.

Mickey Mantle said "beautiful, but they need better showers."

Roger Maris said "what, no bucket seats in the dugout?"

CONFIRM RACE WINNER
MONTEGO BAY, Jamaica, W.I. (AP) — Ticonderoga, Robert F. Johnson's 72-foot ketch, was confirmed Saturday as the winner in the 844-mile Miami-Montego Bay ocean race.

Her record time of 4 days, 23 hours, 8 minutes and 57 seconds gave the Portland, Ore., yacht all three major prizes. She was first across the finish line, first over-all and first in Class A.

Cooperatives Seek Electric 'Consumer' Territory Protection

SPRINGFIELD—A bill aimed at settling the territorial controversy between public utilities and electric cooperatives was introduced in the Illinois House of Representatives last week.

The bill, introduced by Rep. Joe W. Russell (D-Piper City), is supported by the Association of Illinois Electric Cooperatives and the Illinois Agricultural Association, the state-wide Farm Bureau.

The quarrel between public utilities and the electric cooperatives involves the question of who has the right to serve consumers in rural areas of the state when two or more electric suppliers have distribution lines in the same area.

The controversy developed as cities, served by public utilities, expanded into rural areas served by the rural electric cooperatives. The public utilities have the right to serve areas in cities in which the utilities own franchises. When cities annex property once served by the cooperatives, the public utilities have claimed the right to serve those areas even though they may already be served by cooperatives. Public utilities have also been moving into unincorporated subdivisions near towns even though the area has been served by the electric cooperatives.

Protection Necessary
Thomas H. Moore, Springfield, general manager of the AIEC, said that the cooperatives would need to continue to serve areas which they have developed and in which they have made considerable investments. He said that this territorial protection would be necessary if the cooperatives were to be able to continue to serve their customers at a reasonable cost.

Delegates to the IAA annual meeting in 1964 wrote, in their resolutions, that "to require the rural electric cooperatives to discontinue service and to withdraw from these disputed areas, entered and developed by them in good faith, would impair the territorial integrity of the cooperatives and deprive them of revenue rightfully gained."

The right of the electric cooperatives to continue to serve their customers in disputed territories has been challenged on the ground that the territory and right to furnish electric power to customers in this territory belongs solely to the public utilities.

Ask 1,000 Foot Monopoly
Moore said that if electric cooperatives are to continue providing adequate service to their member-consumers at a reasonable cost, it is necessary that they have the opportunity to provide electric power to all the consumers within the territories they have developed.

Rep. Russell said that the rules and regulations provided for in the bill would apply to the electric cooperatives, as well as to the public utilities and municipally owned electric systems. The bill provides that public utilities and electric cooperatives can continue to serve the customers they now have. In the case of new customers such as newly constructed homes or businesses in areas developed by electric cooperatives, if only one electric supplier has a power line within 1,000 feet of the "premises" then that supplier will service the new customer. If two electric suppliers are within 1,000 feet of the new customer, then the supplier that is closest will provide the electrical service.

The bill would not apply to customers desiring electrical service who are more than 1,000 feet away from a power line. These customers could choose their own electric systems. The bill would more than one is available.

Purchase Plan
Rep. Russell said that if a municipality that owns its own electric system annexes some territory that is serviced by an electric cooperative, the municipality shall have the right to acquire the electric cooperative's facilities by exercising the right of eminent domain. The electric cooperative would receive fair payment for the facilities acquired by the municipality.

If a municipality that owns its own electric system chooses not to purchase the electric cooperative's facilities, then the electric cooperative could continue serving its present customers but could not extend service to any new customers not serviced at the time the area was annexed to the municipality.

Fifty-one Illinois cities own their own electric system. The electric cooperatives that continued to service customers within the corporate boundaries of a municipality would be subject to the same municipal taxes, regulations, fees, and charges as other electric suppliers furnishing electrical power to the area.

The electric distribution cooperatives in Illinois—27 of them are members of the Association of Illinois Electric Cooperatives. The electric cooperatives have 140,000 member-consumers. The electric cooperatives still serve predominantly thinly populated areas. In 1961 commercial public utilities in Illinois averaged 48.5 consumers per mile of power line, while electric cooperatives averaged only three customers per mile.

Members control the electric cooperatives through membership privileges and voting rights. The members are charged rates sufficient to pay for operating expenses, to retire debts, and to provide a reserve for emergencies such as ice storms.

Electric cooperatives make up a small part of the total electric industry in Illinois. While they receive only three per cent of the total electric revenue and sell about two per cent of the total kilowatt hours, the cooperatives serve a substantial part of rural Illinois.

A second school clinic is scheduled for Tuesday morning April 13 from 9 to 11 a.m. at the elementary school. Immunizations will be given as needed with physical examinations for preschoolers and students entering fifth grade this fall. Registration of children entering kindergarten or first grade in September will also be conducted during clinic hours.

Casey-Bradish Ballot Recount Resumes Apr. 19

The Casey-Bradish election contest suit will resume April 19 at 1:30 in the afternoon for the purpose of recounting the ballots cast in twelve Morgan county precincts.

The recount, as asked by Casey in his original suit, calls for the same precincts as those recounted earlier by a discovery recount canvassing board.

The big difference is that the recount starting April 19 will be official and a part of the regular court proceedings. Election judges will be the attorneys for both sides. Robert E. Bradish and William T. Wilson (Bradish's attorneys); Robert H. Brunson and C. G. Colburn (Casey's attorneys). Each side will appoint a teller, yet to be named, who will be appointed by the court to handle the ballots.

Judge John T. Reardon's ruling Friday to allow the ballots into evidence and a recount started was considered a legal and moral victory for Casey. Bradish will have an opportunity to ask for the remaining 37 precincts to be recounted after the next court session. No estimate is available concerning how long it will take the attorneys to recount the ballots. The discovery board handled the task in two days, but attorneys for both sides will have an opportunity to argue over any or all the ballots they wish. The ballots on which an agreement cannot be reached will later be argued before Judge Reardon.

Interest in the Casey-Bradish election contest is running high both locally and statewide. Philip E. Bradish, the Republican candidate for reelection to circuit clerk, was declared the winner by 35 votes. Joe Casey, the Democrat candidate, asked a discovery recount in 12 precincts and later was determined the unofficial winner by 19 votes. The difference was noted in two precincts and involves throwing out some 60 absentee ballots, most of which were voted for Bradish, because the election judges failed to initial the ballots.

The Supreme court has ruled previously that ballots not initiated by election judges cannot be counted in determining the winner. Several arguments on the subject are expected to be heard before the case has reached a conclusion.

BEST OF EXPOSITION—Jonathan Turner Junior High School student Becky Wegehoff (right), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wegehoff of 352 Webster, was given the Junior Division "Best of Exposition Award" Saturday at the Illinois Junior Academy of Science Southwestern District Exposition held on the campus of Illinois College. She is pictured with the Senior Division "Best of Exposition" winner, Kathleen Meierdicks of Springfield (left), and I.J.A.S. district chairman Dennis E. Lauer. Twenty-eight schools from fifteen counties in the state sent representatives to the district annual science display.

Resigns Post

Mrs. Robt. Hartman

At the meeting last week of the Illinois Prairie Girl Scout Council board the resignation of the Council's Executive Director, Mrs. Robert (Beatrice) Hartman, was accepted with deep regret. Officially Mrs. Hartman will terminate her duties on June 1st of this year.

The meeting was held in the Girl Scout Office on North East street with Mrs. Frank McCarthy board president, presiding. Reports were heard from chairmen and worksheets evaluated.

Mrs. Hartman's resignation was included in the communications read by the secretary, Mrs. Harlan Lee Williamson. Mrs. Hartman joined the Girl Scout Council staff in 1957. She has realized many goals and fine accomplishments during her years as Director. Mrs. Hartman will continue her interest in the Scouting movement with volunteer work.

A personnel committee has been named to provide placements for vacancies in the Council family. This group includes, Mrs. K. Lyle Davis, chairman, Mrs. A. Wadsworth Applebee, Mrs. Jerry Wellenkamp and Mrs. Robert Caldwell.

Holy Week Services Opens Here Tonight

The first of three religious services sponsored by the Greater Jacksonville Council of Churches will be held Sunday night at 7:30 at Central Christian church when the combined choirs of several churches will present the cantata "Calvary."

The annual Union Communion service will be held Thursday night at Northminster Presbyterian church with the Rev. William Sturgess delivering the message. Good Friday services will be conducted at the Central Christian church, with four ministers leading half-hour devotional periods.

Good Friday Service
"Personalities of the Passion" is the topic for the Good Friday services to be held beginning at 11:30 a.m. at Central Christian church. Rev. Frank Nestler, pastor of Grace Methodist, will be the first speaker with Pontius Pilate as his center of discussion. He will be followed by Rev. Dale Robb, pastor of First Presbyterian, who will review the part played by "Christ's Silent Friends." Chaplain Robert McClelland of Illinois College will discuss the "Three Criminals" in the third portion of the service and Rev. Frank Marston formerly pastor at Grace Methodist, will conclude the series with "The Christ of the Cross."

Many churches will hold traditional Sunrise services this year on Easter morning. Centenary Methodist men will sponsor one on the shore of Lake Mauvasterre at the site of the Boat club. Salem Lutheran will again conduct a Sunrise service at the Drive-In theater. Northminster Presbyterian will have its service followed by a Fellowship Breakfast. Faith Lutheran will present a service as will Central Christian.

Luncheon For Garden Club To Be April 17th

The Morgan County Garden Club will hold its annual luncheon on April 17 at the Dunlap Motor Inn, at 12:30 p.m. Cost of the luncheon is $1.50 for members.

The general chairman for luncheon arrangements is Mrs. Lester Reed, with Mrs. Russell Verner chairman of table decorations using the Easter theme. The invocation will be given by Mrs. Vernon Scholfield.

The business meeting will be conducted by the President, Miss Emma Mae Leonhard and will include election of officers, followed by an installation ceremony in charge of Mrs. Charles Gibson. A memorial service for members deceased in 1964 will be conducted by Mrs. Eugene Dodsworth.

The program for the day for the entertainment of the members will begin with a group of vocal selections by Mr. Jack Russell, a student at Illinois College. Mr. Russell will be accompanied by Miss Gladys

Howard. Following the musical portion of the program, Mrs. Howard Stevenson will present a talk entitled "A Glimpse of Old World Charm."

This meeting will conclude formal meetings of the Club for the year, but all members will be looking forward to participating in the May Flower Show, which always attracts local visitors, as well as those from surrounding counties. The May Flower Show will be coordinated by Mrs. Harry Merriman.

FACE EXERCISES

Your face is made up of many muscles. Like the rest of you, the more you exercise the muscles, the better it is for you. Daily massage when applying moisturizing creams and make-up removing creams contribute to muscle firmness. Let your facial muscles down and they'll eventually let you down.

SOFTENING SKIN

Do your knees and elbows embarrass you? Treat them to an overnight refresher. Smooth on a mixture of lemon juice and baby oil after scrubbing the areas with a brush first. This combination helps rid knees and elbows of discolorations while softening the skin.

14 Junior Maids To Participate In Beaux Arts Ball

Fourteen eighth grade age level girls will serve as Junior Maids for this year's Beaux Arts Ball and Coronation on Saturday April twenty-fourth.

Although the young ladies will wear the traditional white frocks the 'oriental' theme will be carried out with decorated parasols and Japanese fans. The parasols will be inverted and filled with floral corsages which the girls will sell at the Coronation. Proceeds of the sale will benefit the Beaux Arts program.

The 'zyusin onnanoko' (Japanese for '14 young girls') will also assist with the serving at the Reception and Open House to be held at the Strawn Art Gallery following the Coronation ceremony.

Mrs. Richard Ware and Mrs. Frank Norbury have been in charge of supervising the Junior Maids. The girls and their mothers enjoyed a Coke party on Feb. 27th at the home of Mrs. Norbury and the young teenagers will also be guests at a buffet supper April 23rd at the Ware home, which is the same evening for their rehearsal.

The girls in the picture above are, reading left to right:

Nancy Bousquet, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bousquet, No. 2 Sunset; Mari Cole, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Cole, 1209 West State street; Diann Ruth Davidsmeyer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. William Davidsmeyer, No. 6 Barn Lane.

Seated at the piano, Barbara Caldwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Caldwell, 1135 West State street; Michele Magner, daughter of the Paul Magners, No. 6 Jones Place; Rosemary Warren, daughter of Mrs. Francis G. Warren, 1011 West College avenue and Kathy Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert W. Hall, 145 Caldwell street.

Janet Hamm, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Hamm, 130 Prospect; Eleanor Applebee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Wadsworth Applebee, 5 Westwood Place; Janis Moore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Moore, 749 South Church street and Renny Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard (Bud) Walker, 1260 West College avenue.

Mt. Sterling Couple Jeted On Anniversary

MT. STERLING — Mr. and Mrs. Myron Henrick of Mt. Sterling were pleasantly surprised Tuesday night, April 6th, when a group of friends and neighbors gathered at their home to celebrate the couple's silver wedding anniversary. The guests brought gifts for the honored couple and refreshments.

Sharing in the festivities were Mr. and Mrs. Cletus Kunkel and Morris; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Buxton and family; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Busby; Mr. and Mrs. Bill Bear; Mr. and Mrs. Acil Robbins and Mr. and Mrs. James Rittenhouse and Gary.

Recent Members of the Welcome Wagon Newcomers club in Jacksonville are pictured above as they attended the April 6th meeting held at the Blackhawk. Seated in the foreground are, from left, Mrs. Thomas Bellamy, Mrs. Harold Sorrell, Mrs. Rolland

Groom's Parents To Entertain For Middendorfs

February newlyweds Mr. and Mrs. Garland A. Middendorf will be honored at a reception Easter Sunday afternoon, April 18th, in the Illinois Room at the Dunlap Motor Inn. The affair will be hosted by Mr. Middendorf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Middendorf of Jacksonville.

The former Sydney Dell Long and Mr. Middendorf were married on Valentine's Day, February fourteenth, at the Missouri

Methodist church in Columbia. Friends of the honorees and of the couples' families are cordially invited to call from three to six o'clock at the Inn.

Special guests expected to attend will be Mrs. Garland Middendorf's parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Elwood Long and the bride's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. E. Elwood Long all of Columbia and her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Fleet Scotten of Fayette, Missouri. Also the groom's brother, David Middendorf, student at Bradley University, Peoria, who served as best man at the February nuptials and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Middendorf of Jacksonville.

Beta Sigma Phi Chapters

Xi Gamma Tau chapter of Beta Sigma Phi met April 5, at the Dunlap Motor Inn. Hostesses for the evening were Dolores Floreth and Yvonne Glossop, who used the Easter theme for decorations.

All local chapters were notified of the Beta Sigma Phi Friendship Breakfast to be given by the St. Louis County Council on May 14 thru 16.

A report was given by the ways and means committee on the success of the recent rummage sale. Delores Thomson gave two short cultural programs using the topics "Prose" and "Fiction."

Grace Canatsey, monthly program chairman, introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Friedrich Engelbach, who spoke on "Civic Responsibilities." She stressed participation in civic affairs whether it be school, city, county, state or federal.

Tuesday Club Enjoys Review By Mrs. Dooley

The Tuesday Club met April 6th with Mrs. Rollyn Trotter. After the serving of a dessert course a business session was conducted by the president, Mrs. Francis Plouer.

Officers elected to serve for two years were: president, Mrs. Samuel D. Darley; vice president, Mrs. Clarendon Smith; secretary, Mrs. Harold Patterson; treasurer, Mrs. Ray Steinhilmer and historian, Mrs. L. P. Hauck.

A guest of the club, Mrs. William Dooley of LeRoy, gave an interesting book review of "The 27th Wife," by Irvin Wallace. This was the story of Ann Eliza, a wife of Brigham Young. Colored slides were shown of the Mormon home by Mrs. Dooley and her daughter, Mrs. Robert Brubaker, whom she is visiting.

Sliced onions and celery, cooked in a little butter or margarine, make an excellent addition to brown rice.

Doldrums For The PTA

Has the PTA outlived its usefulness? Attendance at Parent-Teacher Association meetings in many communities often is small, and membership often an automatic exchange of a coin for a card that few are interested enough to carry. In one town a PTA group voted itself out of existence after 45 years because its active membership had shrunk almost to the teaching staff. In another district the parents who came to the meeting were not interested enough to vote either for or against the questions put.

Originally designed to coordinate the efforts of parents and teachers in making the best education available to children, the PTA now seems to be in danger of dying from lack of interest or being sidetracked by pressure groups which have lost sight of the basic goal. Either outcome would be a tragedy.

The original reason for the creation of the PTA is as valid today as it ever was. Until someone comes up with a better channel of communication between parents and teachers, and cooperation for a common purpose, let's stifle that yawn and make better use of what we have.

Powell Is A Symptom

There is small likelihood that Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of New York will be deprived of his seat in Congress as a result of a federal court suit contending that he was "not an inhabitant" of New York when re-elected last November. The courts probably will not encroach on the constitutional prerogative of Congress to determine the qualifications of its members.

But the filing of such a suit by Mrs. Esther James, whose successful slander action against Powell resulted in an as yet unpaid $262,500 judgment, is good news all the same. It serves to sharpen still further the already sharp focus on Congressman Powell's disgraceful conduct while in office. It also points up the deplorable tendency of Congress to forgive almost anything in its members.

Despite behavior that places the entire House of Representatives in a bad light, Powell has not so much as had his wrist slapped. Indeed, he is permitted to continue as chairman of the powerful Committee on Education and Labor. This episode is one more symptom that points to the need for congressional reform.

Dear Ann:

Ill at Ease With Dad, New Wife

By ANN LANDERS

Dear Ann Landers: I was divorced seven years ago when our sons were six and eight. Their father is at present $9,000 in arrears with his support checks. But the money is the least of my complaints. He rarely exercises his visitation rights and the children hardly know him.

Three months ago my ex-husband remarried. The first thing he did when he returned from his honeymoon was to take the boys for a Sunday. He was a stranger to them. They asked me not to make them go with him again. I insisted, however, two weeks later—and they were miserable.

Should I continue to insist that they go with their father? They are ill at ease with him and I suspect they do not like his new wife. I need your help.

—NO MIRACLE WORKER

Dear Miracle: You cannot force boys 13 and 15 years of age to go with their father if they don't want to. DO reason with them, however, and make an honest effort to get them to go.

After another four or five visits, if they do not go willingly, it will be apparent to their father that he has lost them and I suspect he will give up.

Dear Ann Landers: My wife's family are grand people but they include horseplay among their inalienable rights.

Two years ago they broke up our wedding reception by attempting to "kidnap" my bride right out of the receiving line. They tried to throw her in the back of the pick-up truck which was parked in the alley. My wife and I planned and paid for the wedding ourselves and we were furious when they turned it into a slapstick comedy.

Tell us, please, how much fun is the family entitled to?

Delinquency Roadblock:

Who Knows Cause, Cure?

By RAY CROMLEY
Washington Correspondent
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

WASHINGTON (NEA)—President Johnson's program to help youth delinquency and crime on the city streets faces severe roadblocks.

The major problem: not even the professionals are certain of the cause—or cure. Theories are legion. Definite evidence is slight.

New research suggests some treasured beliefs on delinquency may be wrong: It has long been believed that broken homes are a principal cause of juvenile delinquency. Some studies now indicate that problem youngsters are as likely to come from unbroken as broken homes.

Much worse in the scale than a broken home, apparently, are parents youngsters cannot respect, continually quarreling parents and parents in poor mental health themselves.

Literature and folklore have painted the stepmother as a bugaboo. Statistics on middle class families seem to show children do as well with a good stepmother as with a good mother.

Authorities have held that getting children out of slums will help cure delinquency. Research by the Urban Renewal and Housing Administration of the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico indicates this may not always be so.

A Puerto Rico study of 100 families moving from shacks to public housing disclosed that the status of the father, which in the slums is low and mainly that of breadwinner, becomes even lower in public housing. Women, who in Puerto Rico slums generally dominate the family, become even more prominent in the public housing because there is less economic need for the man. In shack town the father was sort of a supreme court to which the women appealed when they could not cope with the situation. In the public housing, he was all but pushed out of the picture.

Experts cite poverty as a cause of juvenile delinquency. But figures show U.S. delinquency parallels the business cycle—the more prosperity the more delinquency.

Delinquency ran high in the prosperous 1920s. That changed with the depression. The delinquency rate stayed rather low until war and prosperity came again. (Officials still say the poor furnish many more than their share of delinquents.)

Some things stand out clearly:

1. Delinquency is on a sharp worldwide upswing—from the United States, Australia, Japan and Sweden to Poland, Soviet Russia and Yugoslavia.
2. The delinquency statistics "lie" a little. Delinquency covers many things—some serious, some minor. Most delinquents are not headed for crime.
3. From 30 to 40 per cent of youngsters placed on probation commit offenses that bring them back to court within a few years. A third of the children put in training schools reappear in court one or more times one to 10 years after release.

Needed before we go whole hog on any program are careful pilot experiments and precise data to pinpoint what's wrong and what remedies are likely to be successful. Otherwise we may head off boldly but ineffectually.

In Hollywood

By BOB THOMAS

AP Movie-Television Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Q. Do witches have babies? A. On television they do.

If all goes according to expectations, next fall will bring the birth of what may well be the most notable baby in these precincts since the arrival of Desiderio Arnaz IV in 1953. Young Desi happened to greet the world on the precise day that his parents, Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz, were enacting the charade of the birth of a baby on their television show, "I Love Lucy."

The result was a television audience that broke all records.

A dozen years later, a like situation is brewing. Elizabeth Montgomery, star of the top-rated "Bewitched," has announced that she and husband William Asher, who also directs the show, are expecting their second child in the fall. Television schedules being what they are, there is no choice but that Samantha, the witch Miss Montgomery plays on the series, must become pregnant, too.

This is not the first time that the Ashers' family plans have upset the show's scheduling. Shortly after the pilot was filmed, she discovered she was expecting their first child, Bill Jr. The series had no trouble finding buyers, but then came the long wait until Liz had the baby. She began filming three weeks afterward; her doctor advised six.

"I plan to take more than three weeks this time," said Elizabeth. "Like maybe four."

She'll be finishing this season's product in a fortnight, then gets a month's breather before returning to start the new season.

"We'll only do five or six pregnancy-oriented shows," Asher declared. "We don't want to drive it into the ground. The rest of the time, no special notice will be made of Samantha's pregnancy. Other things do happen to pregnant women."

Asher is ideally suited for the coming assignment; he was directing "I Love Lucy" when Lucille had her baby. "We were able to time the show to the actual birth because Lucille had a Caesarian," he recalled.

Dr. J. L. Bunch and Mrs. Marjorie Kanatzer were elected to the Jacksonville Board of Education in quiet voting Saturday.

FINDING THE WAY

A Time Trembling

By RALPH W. LOEW, D.D.

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

There is a sobbing line in one of the great Negro spirituals that is relevant to Holy Week, 1965! It is a time of crisis, spiritual and political, these were threads that ran through that succession of days which the Christian world remembers just now. The recurring question asks, "Were you there when they crucified my Lord?" The recurring insistence asserts, "Sometimes it makes me tremble, tremble, tremble."

There is a hatred abroad in our land that causes us to tremble. The unleashed emotions that run riot, killing, creating economic jeopardy, rubbing raw and creating new resentments drive one to the question about the Cross: "Were you there?" Hatred causes us to tremble.

Despair causes us to tremble also. There is that pathetic despair that overtakes the hand-wringing, breast-beating watchers on the sidelines.

A rabbi of our times, Dr. Abraham J. Heschel, insists that "despair is a heresy, the despair of men's power for goodness, men's power for love."

We are all Pharaohs or slaves of Pharaoh. It is sad to be a slave of Pharaoh. It is horrible to be a Pharaoh.

To do nothing about the anguish around us that creates despair is to incarnate the sin of noninvolvement. Sometimes that makes me tremble, tremble, tremble.

The trembling the spiritual took about was the awesome fact of love. It's shocking to know of man's inhumanity to man and of the cruelty that can possess the so-called "good people."

It's awesome to see what can happen when the redeeming love of God lays hold of a man until he's set free to work in his own neighborhood, in his own situation and with his own contemporaries with an humbling boldness.

We need to give thanks this Holy Week for those men and women in every city, village and town who refuse to hate or despair and are keeping open the lines of communication and are actually becoming the channels of God's kingdom. Their only trembling is that there is so much to do and so little done.

We can shrug off history and say, "Of course, not" when they ask "Were you there when they crucified my Lord?" But when they ask us about the revolutionary times of this present, what have we done to alleviate the anguish, mitigate the evil, prevent the humiliation or heal the wounds? What were you doing in the middle of that crisis?

For trembling is not only the trembling of hatred or fright or despair. There is that awesome and good trembling that is at the heart of Holy Week; that's the trembling before the fact and the possibility of love!

Let's Not Forget Again

By MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

The West German ambassador's feelings have been hurt by our Jewish War Veterans' recent protest against his government's dealings with Egypt's Nasser. He has publicly reminded Americans of the millions of dollars Germany has paid to Jewish victims of its former fuhrer and their relatives. He suggests that we should now let bygones be bygones.

No sir, not I.

And I'm sorry to learn that I'm expected to forget those horrendous bygones. The belief that dollars could erase them from my memory represents to me that inveterate claim to innocence which has been Germany's moral problem within my lifetime. I don't forget how Hitler's screams of innocence of "war guilt" for World War I were the screams with which he launched World War II. I don't forget how those screams of innocence became howls of accusation of the "injustice" done Germany until much of the West began to feel sorry and apologetic while Hitler armed in secret, declared his world to be German for a thousand years, and plunged it into war for the second time in my generation—and killed 6,000,000 Jews.

Not for me it isn't. I remember too much. My husband was attached to a British intelligence unit that opened up some of Germany's concentration camps.

How wonderful it would be if Germany could once say, "Yes, God help us, we did evil things. We don't forget them and don't want to forget them lest we be tempted to do them again."

But it just won't say it. And that's why I do the remembering for it.

Drinking Diet Denounced

By GAYNOR MADDOX

Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Q—My boss is on "The Drinking Man's Diet." He says the Department of Nutritional Sciences at the University of California (Berkeley) recommends it. Is that true?

A—No, the University of California does not endorse the "Drinking Man's Diet," another version of the low-carbohydrate diet. In an interview with this reporter, Dr. George M. Briggs, professor of nutrition and chairman, Department of Nutritional Sciences, said, "We are not in agreement that this is the answer to a drinking man's problem."

Regretting the implication that his department gave approval, Dr. Briggs added, "We do not approve of this diet or of the suggestion that drinking persons can cut down on good food just so they can get their calories from alcohol. The low-calorie diets recommended in "The Drinking Man's Diet" are not nutritionally complete and would be dangerous if taken over a long period of time. One cannot build up habits of good eating that will last a lifetime in just a few months using odd diets."

U.I. Cattle Feeding Program To Feature Carcass Research

URBANA — Reports on the latest U. of I. cattle feeding and beef carcass research and the climax of Illinois' first "Beef Carcass of Tomorrow" Contest highlight the University of Illinois Cattle Feeders Day program set for April 15 in Urbana.

The program, which emphasizes the importance in beef carcass quality, begins at 8 a.m. with an open house at the U. of I. Beef Research Unit. The formal program begins at 10:15 in the University Auditorium.

Cattle feeders who attend the day-long program will hear research reports on recent U. of I. studies with corn silage and haylage, cornstalk silage for wintering dry pregnant cows, urea supplements and all-in-one silages for beef cattle. The program also features a report of one of the most extensive studies ever made on the effects of animal type, feed energy levels, slaughter weights and hormone treatment on beef production and carcass composition. The study took two years to complete and involved 64 steers.

To Display Carcass
The winning carcass of the

"Beef Carcass of Tomorrow" contest will be on display in the U. of I. Stock Pavilion during Cattle Feeders Day. The statewide contest is designed to focus attention on the importance of producing, finishing and marketing cattle that will produce quality carcasses.

At present, special committees in a number of Illinois counties are screening area beef herds in search of the animal that will represent their county in the contest.

Slaughter Results
The selection committee in each cooperating county will make arrangements to have the steer they choose trucked to one of three packing plants that have agreed to participate in the contest. These three plants are the Armour Co. packing plant at Peoria's Union Stock Yards, and the Swift and Co. packing plants at Rochelle and at National Stock Yards near East St. Louis.

The steers were slaughtered on April 9, and U. of I. Meats Division personnel and livestock specialists will select the two top carcasses at each of the three plants. The winning carcasses from each plant will then be sent to Urbana and put on exhibition during the April 15 Cattle Feeders Day.

Parking space for Cattle Feeders Day visitors will be available in the U. of I. Assembly Hall parking lots. The U. of I. student Block and Bridge Club will serve a barbecued ham luncheon at noon.

Young Farmers Meet With Legislators Wednesday

The executive committee of the Morgan County Farm Bureau Young People has accepted an invitation to meet with the Illinois House agriculture committee at 8:30 a.m. Wednesday. Other members of the FBYP organization are also invited and to talk with other members of the House and Senate during the day.

The executive committee was chosen at a Young People's dinner meeting held Friday, April 2, at the Blackhawk restaurant. There were 95 young Morgan county farmers present, plus four from Sangamon and four from Scott.

They heard a dynamic address by Ken Cheatham of Bloomington, YP director of the Illinois Agricultural association. He noted that the average age of his auditors "is about 25 years. That means you have about 40 years of farming ahead of you. Are you going to farm all those years with somebody making the rules for you, or are you going to take the time and effort to help make the rules?"

Each of the seven tables was asked to nominate one couple to the executive committee, which is shown above. From left — Mr. and Mrs. Howard Schone, Bluffs; Mr. and Mrs. Bob Johnson, Waverly; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Tomhave, Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Russell Morris, Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Eddie Hymes, Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Merle Sayre, Jacksonville; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wohlers, Franklin.

At the organizational meeting Wayne Tomhave was named chairman; Russell Morris, vice chairman, and Linda Sayre, secretary.

Shorthorn Herd Breeders Meet In Jerseyville

JERSEYVILLE — The Tri-County Shorthorn Breeders association held its third annual spring dinner meeting at the Jersey County Farm Bureau Saturday, April 3, with 120 Shorthorn breeders, friends and guests enjoying a roast beef dinner in the setting of "Hello Spring."

Milton Darr, Jerseyville, association president, presided. Miss Marilyn Bauer of Pittsfield, the retiring Lassic Queen, told of her reign in 1964.

There were two contestants for the "Lassic Queen of 1965": Miss Virginia Fritz of Brighton and Miss Donna Staylor of Carlinville.

The judges, Pike County Farm Adviser Harry Wright and Mrs. Wright, chose Miss Fritz for the honor. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fritz, route 2, is a junior at the Jersey Community high school, and has been showing Shorthorns for two years in the 4-H, junior and open shows at the Jersey county fair and in the junior department of the Illinois State Fair.

The new queen was presented the official Lassic costume, a corsage and a scrapbook.

During the summer she will attend the county fairs and other Shorthorn events in west central Illinois and in August will compete with six other district queens for the Illinois Lassic Queen title.

Soil Scientist Says: Don't Be 'Taken In' By Fertilizer Quacks

URBANA — About the time farmers start thinking seriously about this year's crop, salesmen offering "miracle" products are "working" the state. It happens every year. Apparently this year is no exception, says University of Illinois agronomist S. R. Aldrich.

Perhaps it's only natural that Illinois has more than its share of "cure-all" peddlers, since the state uses more commercial fertilizers than any other state.

Any time a highly persuasive salesman makes great claims for his product, be on guard, warns Aldrich. Here are some of the "advice" they're getting on limestone and gypsum. Many are being "advised" to apply limestone in amounts up to 15 tons or more per acre and even to apply limestone on soils that are already neutral. There are no theoretical reasons or research results to support these excessive rates of liming. Adding lime to a soil that is already alkaline reduces the available phosphorus and aggravates a manganese deficiency if it exists for soybeans and oats.

Not Valuable Here
Gypsum has not proved to be a substitute for limestone in Illinois because the problems on acid soils are related to pH-degree of acidity — rather than to the supply of calcium. Gypsum supplies calcium but does not reduce soil acidity. Gypsum is effective on alkali soils in the arid west because there the problem is excessive sodium. The calcium in gypsum replaces sodium, which can be washed out of the soil, usually by flooding with irrigation water. Sodium is not the problem in alkaline soils in the northern two-thirds of Illinois, Aldrich advises.

By following fertilizer practices based upon research of the University of Illinois agronomy department, Illinois farmers have increased their yields of corn, soybeans, wheat, oats and hay at fantastic rates during the past 25 years. "If you need information or advice on fertility practices, contact your farm adviser and legitimate fertilizer dealers," advises Aldrich. Always seek advice before using an unproven product, he adds.

Could Be True
This last claim may be true. A tax-supported institution can not justify time of staff and use of facilities for projects that offer no potential for the state.

Aldrich makes these suggestions to farmers who are considering the purchase of new and unusual materials for soil treatment:

1. Study the specific claims that are made.

2. Ask about the chemical composition of the material, and specifically about the availability of elements that are claimed.

3. Ask whether the material has been included in research conducted by an unbiased research institution, such as the state agricultural experiment station.

Goals For Profitable Production Of Pork

What are the earmarks of an efficient, profitable hog business? Achieve an average weight of 35 to 40 pounds per pig at eight weeks.

Fay M. Sims, University of Illinois extension farm management specialist, reports that high-profit producers wean and market more pigs per litter and have lower feed costs per 100 pounds of pork produced than do less profitable swine raisers.

The records of 109 high-profit producers reveal that they weaned an average of 7.6 pigs per litter and had 17 pigs die after weaning. Records of 156 low-profit producers show that they weaned 7 pigs per litter and had 18 pigs die after weaning.

High-profit producers fed an average of 360 pounds of feed per 100 pounds of pork produced at a cost of $9.20 per 100 pounds. The low-profit producers fed 465 pounds of feed per 100 pounds of pork produced at a cost of $12 per 100 pounds. Included in the figures of both groups was feed to maintain the breeding herd.

The better producers marketed their hogs at an average price of $15.20 per hundred-weight compared with an average market price of $14.55 per hundred for low-profit producers.

Returns to high-profit producers ranged from $150 to $200 per $100 feed fed compared with a range of $100 to $150 returns per $100 feed fed by low-profit producers.

Since it is not the size of the hog system but the management of that system that counts, Sims believes that a swine raiser should be sure that he can do a first-class job on a moderate scale before he gets big. Even that is no guarantee of success, but it is a good basis for planning effective expansion.

All hog raisers need to set goals or standards to help in managing their operations, Sims notes. Here are his suggestions:

Farrow an average of 10 pigs per litter, wean 8 1/2 to 9 of them and get 8 to 8 1/2 pigs to

Let's Go Birding —

Another Record

By Emma Mae Leonhard

Our most exciting bird rarities seem to call upon us in this area during the winter months. White-winged Crossbills, Red Crossbills, Evening Grosbeaks, at times, have come down from the North to dine upon the cones of hemlocks and pines in November, December, and January. During the winter months of '63 and '64 we experienced frequent excitement of seeing flocks of both kinds of crossbills.

Our past winter we saw none of these northern finches and were almost convinced that 1965 would be an uneventful year for us birders who are never satisfied. We do not wish to leave a wrong impression: we see the regular bird visitors at every season of every year, and we are thankful for their company. It is, however, human to glory in the irregular ones at rare occasions.

But 1965 has not let us down. On the Saturday morning of March 27, when we were reveling in the great show of the many kinds of ducks on Lake Jacksonville and of course were searching intently for one more kind, hoping to break our record, we were interrupted by the sudden appearance of a Bald Eagle, the first one that we had ever seen on our Morgan county lakes.

Two Thrills

We really had two great thrills. A record-breaking bird is always a thrill. We also did not have to be satisfied with a mere glimpse of it, either soaring high above us, or setting far out on a ledge of ice, as we usually saw the few eagles in their habitats. This enormous Bald Eagle circled low over the water just a few feet from us. Without the aid of our binoculars we could easily see the majestic dark brown bird with its great wing spread.

Although it undoubtedly saw us first, it revealed no fright or gave no alarm call. With the greatest of dignified ease, almost with polite disdain, it circled before us and then swerved to the left and disappeared behind the woods.

As we retraced our steps, we hoped to see our Bald Eagle once more, but we failed to locate it. The following day several of the Audubon Society went in search of it, with the same results. Weren't we lucky to be at the right place at the right time to be able to place the Bald Eagle on the Morgan county bird list?

TULIPS SWAYING

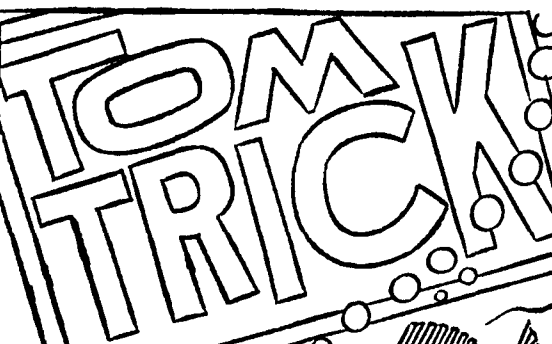

The tulips in the wind are swaying. And the laughing children are playing. The windmill sails in the wind are blowing. They're really lovely when they get going.

The little cottages hold their beauty. Each one performing a special duty. The little children are watering the flowers. This long job keeps them toiling for hours.

The giant dikes keep out the sea. And if they break the people flee. Up, up to higher ground. While the sea churns round and round.

The people in the streets are bustling. No-er idling always hustling. The huge windmills reach toward the sky. Oh how the sails do seem to fly.

HOW ABOUT RUSSIANS?

Last week we gave an account of the Russian 2-man space shot in which one of the Cosmonauts stepped out into space for an historic first, and the United States 2-man Gemini shot which also scored a first when the Astronauts maneuvered their craft into a different orbit. Now we consider WHY the Russians have never attempted to change orbits with their Voskhod.

The reason none of the Russian manned space flights have attempted to change orbits is probably because the Soviets have had trouble doing this with unmanned spacecraft. Out of fourteen space probes launched by the Soviet Union from parking orbit ten have failed. Three of the four that got off ran out of power before they completed their mission. Even the third, Zond II, now on the way to Mars is running on only half power.

Although the Russians are ahead of us in some manned space feats they have done more of them with less advanced equipment than ours. For example, Voskhod 1, the seventh Russian manned flight, was the first to be equipped with a manual control system and an artificial horizon sensor so that the ship could be lined up when it was in the shadow of earth. This equipment has been standard on all U.S. manned spacecraft.

Next Gemini Flight

Given enough time for a careful development of flight techniques the United States will soon be able to equal some of the Russian feats. The next Gemini space flight, for example, will last four days, equalling the Russians record. Also on this flight one of our astronauts will step out into space for the first time.

Our astronauts do not intend to go on any space trips without space suits, however, although

Three Good Friends

By John Rankin

It was a balmy day in early spring and already the afternoon sun was sinking behind a mountain peak—casting its shadows over the cabin in the valley. A flicker of white smoke floated lazily up from a rock chimney at one end of the log structure.

Inside the cabin ten-year-old Mark Atherton and Duke, his big tan collie, sprawled on the floor by the open fireplace where the embers of a wood fire glowed brightly. A series of wildlife paintings lined the walls of the one-room dwelling.

In a chair by the window Jacob Armstrong, an elderly and white-haired man, puffed reflectively on a corncob pipe. He smiled at the youngster through clouds of white smoke. Not one of the three good friends guessed that this peaceful calm would soon be destroyed.

"Not many folks get back here in these hills to see an old man like me, son," the old man nodded. "Seems right good when you and your dog show up."

Mark turned from a painting he was admiring to smile back at his genial host. "Yeah, sure, Mr. Jake, guess most folks don't know what a swell painter you are. My Mom says you should be in a big city or something where people could see your work."

Mr. Jake laid his pipe aside and got up to place a log on the smoldering fire. "Maybe the hustle and bustle of city life is all right for some folks," he said thoughtfully. "But for a fellow that loves nature and wildlife nothing beats the great outdoors. That's why I retired from active law practice several years ago and came here where I could paint wild creatures in real life."

Duke growled. Suddenly Duke raised his head, growled ominously, and began pacing nervously about the room. "What is it boy?" Mark soothed. "Never saw you act this way before when we're at Mr. Jake's house."

"He's probably picked up the scent of some wild creature," Mr. Jake suggested. "It's about feeding time and soon the whole lot of them will be coming down from the mountain for their supper."

Mark jumped to his feet and went to the window to peer over the valley. "Yeah, maybe, Mr. Jake," he nodded. "But this looks like two guys on horseback coming through the mountain pass and headed this way."

Mr. Jake joined Mark at the window. Soon two men, one tall and the other short, rode up to the cabin, dismounted and tied their horses to a tree.

"The tall one is Sheriff Horley," Mark whispered. "But I never saw that creepy looking little guy with him. Wonder what they're doing back here anyway."

Prayer Poem— Life Has Many Sides

By Mary Pence Claywell

One listens to ball games. . .
One buries his dead. . .
One hums a gay song. . .
One crieth instead: . . .
One life cometh in. . .
Another goes out. . .
One smiles in his gladness, . . .
Another one pouts: . . .
One lives without "hope" . . .
Of "Eternity's" Peace, . . .
Another looks forward, . . .
To it, with release . . .
From all of earth's sorrows . . .
And strife, Lord, and pain, . . .
No lingering regrets . . .
That they'll leave earthly gain: . . .
But one thing is certain, . . .
Thou holdeth us all . . .
In The Palm of Thy Hand, . . .
And we rise. . . or we fall; . . .
And though life is varied, . . .
Things can't go awry . . .
With Thy Hand Directing . . .
All things. . . from The Sky!

HAPPY ENDING

Once there was a gardener's daughter who watered the flowers just as she 'oughter'.

The master's flowers, indeed they were!

More precious to him than gold and myrrh.

Then one day while in the garden

She fell and crushed a rose. . .
She cried and cried and cried so hard . . .

She could not blow her nose. . .
The master who was passing by . . .

Stopped to listen and heard her cry . . .
He heard her story, grew black as thunder . . .

And said in wonder how you do blunder! . . .
"Into the dungeon with you," he roared . . .

"Oh please, Lord Master, not there," she implored . . .
In there she went with the rats and mice . . .

My! Couldn't that man be one bit nice! . . .
Then one day came the Royal Surveyor . . .

With him surveying you had not a prayer . . .
When he saw Collette locked up in a cell . . .

He screamed and he raged and he spat and he yelled . . .
Then he turned to the master and said, "You're expelled!" . . .

And she has been happy ever since . . .
They have two daughters named Margaret and Mary . . .

And also three sons named Tom, Dick and Harry! . . .

The Lincoln Murder Case—Plus 100 Years

Mystery Still Shrouds Lincoln Assassination

Written By PHILIP VAN DOREN STERN for NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSOCIATION

JOHN WILKES BOOTH mortally wounded President Abraham Lincoln on April 14, 1865. That this century should come so soon after the assassination of President John F. Kennedy shows that we have made little progress in protecting our chief executives.

Since two other presidents, Garfield and McKinley, were slain during the period between these two killings, it is evidently more dangerous to be the president of the United States than it is to be a top-ranking general in the field.

Lincoln was killed by a single shot drenching fired at close range while Kennedy was hit by a high-speed bullet from a rifle equipped with a telescopic sight. In both cases the assassin was shot and never regained consciousness.

Lincoln was shot in Ford's Theatre where his bodyguard had been left his post at the door to the President's stage box. Kennedy was killed in a moving car with Secret Service men all around, but they could not prevent a well-aimed rifle from doing its deadly work. Both men had said that it would be easy to assassinate them if a desperate killer was willing to risk his life.

Lincoln had been shot at the same moment that a desperate but unsuccessful attack was made on the life of his secretary of war, Edwin M. Stanton. The man assigned to kill Andrew Johnson lost heart and fled. What happened to Grant's supposed assassin is not known.

Booth met his death in Virginia when a tobacco barn in which he had taken refuge was set on fire. Attempts have been made to show that he lived on, but the undying folk figure belongs to legend, not history.

Since all the known conspirators were Southerners, the Northern government tried to implicate the leaders of the Confederacy in Booth's plot. Suspicion was directed against them largely because they had secret agents operating against the United States. Some of these agents were stationed in Canada.

When a bill of exchange, dated Oct. 27, 1864, and drawn on the Montreal bank that was the chief depository for Confederate secret service funds, was found on Booth's body, it began to look as if the government had a case. The date was especially significant, for it was then that the conspiracy in Canada was most active.

It was also shown that Booth had shipped his theatrical effects from Montreal to Nassau—a move which seemed to indicate that he expected to escape to that British port and go to Europe or Mexico after his deed in Washington was done.

But the government's case against Jefferson Davis and his associates quickly collapsed when its witnesses turned out to be a seedy lot of perjurers, double spies, and unscrupulous mercenaries.

The eight people who were charged with being Booth's accomplices were tried before a military commission because the killing of the President, who was also the Commander in Chief of the Army and the Navy, was an offense "against the laws of war."

The officers sitting in judgment sentenced four of the accused to be hanged and the other four to be imprisoned. It then disbanded, leaving many clues uninvestigated and many questions unanswered.

It is these that tinge the Lincoln assassination with mystery and place it high among the famous unsolved murder cases of the world.

The mysteries began on the night of the slaying when it was discovered that Washington's commercial telegraph lines had gone out of commission. They remained inoperable for two hours at this crucial time.

Next mystery: When Booth reached the Navy Yard Bridge he gave his name to the sentry. Yet this positive clue to the direction the President's assassin took was never followed up.

There were many faults and omissions in the way the case was handled, but worst of all is what the military commission did not do.

It did not summon the guard who had deserted his post at the entrance to the President's box. Oddly enough, Mrs. Lincoln had asked for this Washington policeman to be appointed to the White House although he had a record of drunkenness and absence from duty.

It did not publish the proceedings of the trial. Newspapers reported each day's testimony in some detail, and four versions of the stenographic copy record were issued commercially. Their accuracy is open to question and none is truly complete.

The documents in the case were kept sealed for many years and were not fully explored until the 1930s. (When I first saw him in 1937 they were in a wooden box in the Judge Advocate's office; they are now in the National Archives.) Secret Service material which conceivably might have had some bearing on the assassination was not declassified until 1953.

No remarkable new material has turned up in recent years. The military commission bungled the trial so badly that it left whole areas of possible complexity unexplored and thus gave anyone involved a chance to destroy evidence and swear his associates to silence.

VICTIM: Lincoln's last photographic portrait, made in Washington on April 10, 1865, by Alexander Gardner.

Booth had taken was not immediately followed up. The greatest mystery of all is a statement which Booth wrote in his diary while he was waiting to cross the Potomac. In it he said: "I have . . . almost a mind to return to Washington and in a measure clear my name, which I feel I can do."

After Booth's death, this diary was given to Secretary of War Stanton. It was never even mentioned during the conspirator's trial. And then, when it was finally made public in 1867, 18 pages had been cut out. The detective who had seen the little book on the day it was taken from Booth's body said that it had more pages than.

Final Assembly Planned

The "Final Assembly" of national and state Civil War commemorative societies will be held April 30 to May 4 in Springfield and New Salem, with headquarters at the Leland hotel.

Sponsored by the United States Civil War Centennial Commission, Civil War Centennial Commission of Illinois, Illinois State Historical Society and the Civil War Roundtables of Illinois, the program is very extensive and varied. All leading Civil War history scholars are expected to be present and special papers written for the occasion by Paul M. Angle and Carl Sandburg will be read.

One of the speakers will be Robert Lincoln Beckwith of Washington, D.C., one of the three living great-grandchildren of Abraham Lincoln.

The list of speakers includes Vice President Hubert H. Humphries, Senator Paul H. Douglas of Illinois, Senator Ralph W. Yarborough of Texas, Governor Otto Kerner and Congressman Paul Findley. Findley will make the address Saturday afternoon, May 1, when the Lincoln Home will be dedicated as a National Historic Landmark.

Civil War scholars to appear include Bruce Catton, E. B. Long, Allan Nevins, Ralph G. Newman, James I. Robertson Jr., Mark Van Doren and Bell I. Wiley.

Special entertainment will be offered by a wide array of talent, including Van Heflin, actor; Gwendolyn Brooks, poet; Ray Tate and the Old Town Singers, and Archibald McLeod and the Southern Illinois University Singers.

The Right Rev. Monsignor Michael Owen Driscoll, pastor of the Church of Our Saviour, will say the prayer Sunday evening when a special musical program is given in Kelso Hollow theatre, New Salem State Park.

Programs and reservation forms may be obtained by writing Clyde C. Walton, executive director, Illinois State Historical society, Centennial Building, Springfield 62706.

From the Jacksonville Sentinel:

We have surrendered our editorial space this week to give place to the interesting details of the recent battle and the surrender of Lee's army.

The confirmation of the news of the surrender of Lee's army was hailed with demonstrations of joy by the people of every city, town and hamlet throughout the country. It is believed the rebellion is ended, and that the rest of the Confederate armies will soon be surrendered on the terms given to Lee's army.

The forces surrendered by Lee comprise 81 generals and 20,000 to 22,000 men.

From the Carrollton Gazette: On Monday last our town was thrown into a tumult of rejoicing by the receipt of the glad tidings of the surrender of Lee and his army, the particulars of which are published in another place. Immediately on the receipt of the news, the bells were rung, cannons and anvils fired, the band came out and played, all kinds of business was suspended and a general time of rejoicing was observed by all; but as is generally the case, some imprudent persons wanted to feel a little better than the rest, and partook too freely of liquor, which towards night resulted in considerable fighting and quarreling, to the detriment of some. With this exception the citizens all had a general good time.

HUMORS of the day

MISERABLE PEOPLE — Young ladies with new bonnets on rainy Sundays, and dresses playing dip, dip at every step. A witness in a bribery case. A smoking nephew on a visit to an anti-smoking aunt. A young doctor, who has cured his first patient, and has no prospect of another. A star actress with her name in small type on a bill.

In some instances ladies who can scarcely lip out "Yes," when they are married, learn to say "No" pretty glibly afterward.

ASSASSIN: Handsome, 26-year-old John Wilkes Booth.

There was much talk about conspiracy in each case, but the Warren Report, published in 26 volumes, stated positively that President Kennedy's slayer had acted alone.

The Lincoln murder, however, was the result of a wide-spread conspiracy because Booth had a number of accomplices, eight of whom were brought to trial. Some of the mysterious figures who helped him escape from Washington may have been men in high places.

Booth had originally intended to seize Lincoln and take him to Richmond to be exchanged for a large number of Southerners who were being held in Northern prison camps. When the Confederate government evacuated Richmond, and Lee surrendered to Grant at Appomattox on April 9, abduction was no longer possible.

Booth then quickly decided to kill. He also planned to have his accomplices assassinate Vice President Andrew Johnson and Secretary of State William H. Seward. There is also some reason to believe that an attempt was to be made on General Grant's life. Booth hoped that these simultaneous slayings would paralyze the Northern government and give the South another chance.

Terror struck Washington when people heard that Lincoln had been shot at the same moment that a desperate but unsuccessful attack was made on the life of his secretary of war, Edwin M. Stanton. The man assigned to kill Andrew Johnson lost heart and fled. What happened to Grant's supposed assassin is not known.

Booth met his death in Virginia when a tobacco barn in which he had taken refuge was set on fire. Attempts have been made to show that he lived on, but the undying folk figure belongs to legend, not history.

Since all the known conspirators were Southerners, the Northern government tried to implicate the leaders of the Confederacy in Booth's plot. Suspicion was directed against them largely because they had secret agents operating against the United States. Some of these agents were stationed in Canada.

When a bill of exchange, dated Oct. 27, 1864, and drawn on the Montreal bank that was the chief depository for Confederate secret service funds, was found on Booth's body, it began to look as if the government had a case. The date was especially significant, for it was then that the conspiracy in Canada was most active.

It was also shown that Booth had shipped his theatrical effects from Montreal to Nassau—a move which seemed to indicate that he expected to escape to that British port and go to Europe or Mexico after his deed in Washington was done.

But the government's case against Jefferson Davis and his associates quickly collapsed when its witnesses turned out to be a seedy lot of perjurers, double spies, and unscrupulous mercenaries.

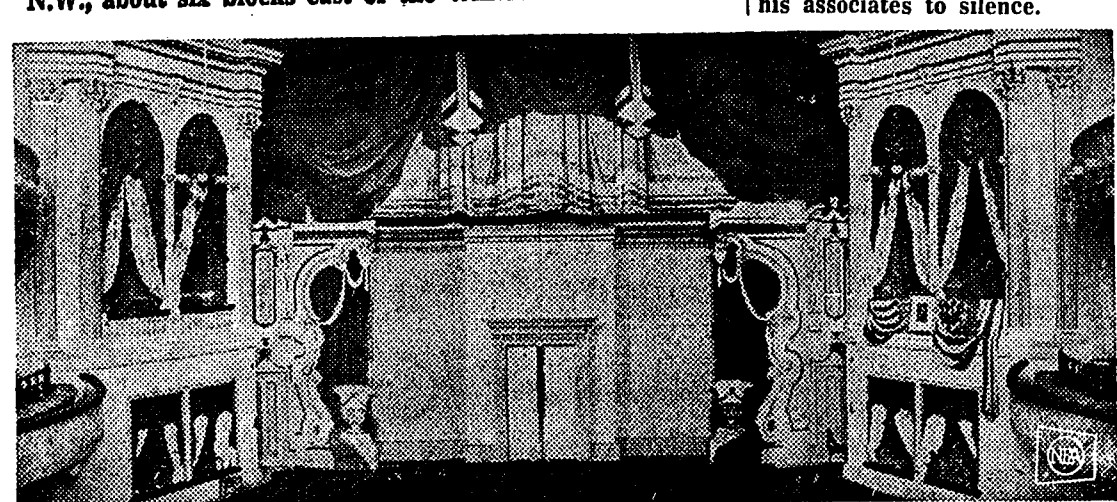

The eight people who were charged with being Booth's accomplices were tried before a military commission because the killing of the President, who was also the Commander in Chief of the Army and the Navy, was an offense "against the laws of war."

The officers sitting in judgment sentenced four of the accused to be hanged and the other four to be imprisoned. It then disbanded, leaving many clues uninvestigated and many questions unanswered.

It is these that tinge the Lincoln assassination with mystery and place it high among the famous unsolved murder cases of the world.

THE SCENE, EXTERIOR: Ford's Theater at 10th Street, N.W., about six blocks east of the White House.

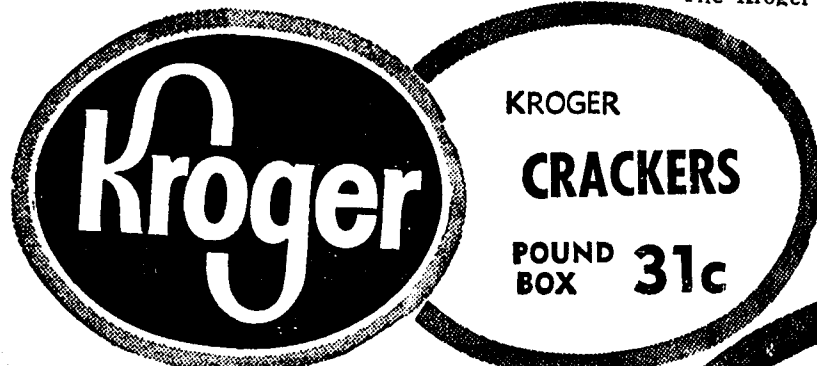

THE SCENE, INTERIOR: Ford's Theater as it was at the time of the assassination. It is being rebuilt to look as it did then. Lincoln's flag-bedecked box is at extreme right.

A research report on feeding results to date with all-in-one silages for beef cattle is one feature of the U. of I. Cattle Feeders Day program set for April 15 in Urbana. Under the all-in-one silage system, concentrates are put into the silo along with silage at ensiling time. Here a animal science graduate student Gene Megli inspects one of the all-in-one silage mixtures during a periodic weigh-in of calves involved in the study.

Select Morgan's 4-H Stock Judging Team

Six boys and two girls will represent Morgan county June 29 when the Illinois 4-H livestock judging contest is held in Urbana.

They were the high scorers among the 84 Morgan county 4-H members who competed in the area contest held April 3 at the state fairgrounds. This was the highest number of Morgan youths ever to try out for the county team.

The winning scores were turned in by Wayne and Terry Bloomfield and Don Reiser of the Berea Ag club; Jim Burrus, Mike Kershaw and Larry Martin of the Northside Ag club. The alternates are Sandra Keltner of Berea and Lloyd DeOrnellas of the Murrayville Kings and Queens.

The area judging contest was the largest in history, with 500 youths from Sangamon, Mar-ard, Cass, Morgan and Scott counties evaluating the eight rings of livestock brought in for inspection and appraisal.

Melvin Fink of Clinton, east central Extension livestock specialist, was in charge of the morning demonstrations designed to help the young judges. He was assisted by 4-H leaders and Extension personnel, including Farm Adviser George Trull and Assistant Adviser Dale Millis.

When Millis announced the makeup of Morgan's 1965 team he was asked if he expected to do as well as last year. Then two Morgan county members, Ronnie Walpole and Virginia Ward, both of the Northside Ag club, won places on the six-man state team and Walpole went on to take second place in national competition.

"We'll have to keep our fingers crossed on that," Millis replied. "But I can tell you that we have some mighty high class judges on the Morgan team."

Pork Producers To Sponsor Queen Contest

The April meeting of the Morgan County Pork Producers was a husband-wife banquet at Hamilton's cafe Tuesday evening. A baked ham dinner was served to the 80 persons attending.

Richard DeOrnellas, president, presided and Secretary Alan Heaton gave the secretary-treasurer's report.

Upon motion of Carman Potter, chairman of the hog carcass class committee of the 1965 Morgan County Junior Fair, the association voted to provide $55 in prize money to the winners.

Marvin Martin gave a report on the state directors' meeting held in Springfield the previous Saturday.

Louis Dyson of Virden, vice president of the state association, spoke briefly on the work and plans of the organization.

Mrs. Dyson, a member of Illinois Porkettes, the women's auxiliary of the association, spoke on their aims and projects.

She especially commented on the Illinois Pork Queen contest and the Morgan group will sponsor a county queen. The committee appointed to work out the details of the contest is Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Walpole and Mr. and Mrs. James Baise.

Any girl wishing information on the contest should contact a committee member.

The principal speaker of the evening was Ivan Johnannes of the National Livestock and Meat Board of Chicago. He spoke of the progress being made toward the production of high quality pork and some of the ways it is being promoted.

A big soybean crop would bring some downward pressure on oil prices, but might not push them back to the 8-cent level. Production of olive oil, which runs in a two-year cycle, should be up this year. But political turmoil in many parts of the world may restrict the output of other vegetable oils.

In the U.S., the production of lard is expected to be cut by at least 7 percent. This continued short supplies of fats and oils may prevent a large decline in prices of soybean oil.

The price support level for the 1965 soybean crop will be $2.25 a bushel.

ILLINOIS OUTLOOK LETTER

A BIG SOYBEAN CROP POSSIBLE

Most farmers have about made up their minds how much corn, soybeans and other crops to plant this year. But some may decide to change their plans when they learn what other farmers are planning to do. Each year in March the USDA makes a survey and report of farmers' planting intentions.

Soybean supply. The report for 1965 indicates that farmers intend to boost soybean acreage 8 percent over last year's level. If they carry out their plans, they will plant 34.3 million acres to soybeans. If they plant this acreage, the acreage for harvest should total about 33.4 million.

The most likely average yield is about 24.5 bushels an acre. This yield would be nearly 2 bushels more than last year, but no more than the 1963 average. Our guess of 24.5 bushels is simply the 10-year average adjusted for the upward trend in yields.

The indicated acreage and a normal yield would produce a crop of about 820 million bushels of soybeans. This amount would be 17 percent more than the 700-million-bushel crops harvested in each of the past two years.

There will be practically no carryover of old soybeans, so the new crop will make up the entire supply for the 1965-66 marketing year. The supply that we have projected is roughly 100 million bushels more than the supply that was available for this year.

A small part of any increase in soybean production may be offset by reduced production of other oilseeds—cottonseed and flaxseed. Farmers reported intentions to cut the acreage of cotton by 4 percent and flaxseed by 5 percent. These decreases would offset a 1 percent increase in soybean production.

Soybean meal. The expected increase in the supply of soybeans will probably bear down on the price of soybean meal. Each decrease of $1.00 a ton in the price of meal takes about 2½ cents from the value of a bushel of soybeans. The price of meal might decline as much as $10 a ton, taking 25 cents out of the value of beans.

Soybean oil. The soybean oil market is strongly influenced by world-wide factors. In recent months, prices have been around 12 cents a pound, nearly 4 cents higher than a year earlier. Since a bushel of soybeans yields about 11 pounds of oil, the rise in oil prices has added about 40 cents to the value of soybeans.

A big soybean crop would bring some downward pressure on oil prices, but might not push them back to the 8-cent level. Production of olive oil, which runs in a two-year cycle, should be up this year. But political turmoil in many parts of the world may restrict the output of other vegetable oils.

In the U.S., the production of lard is expected to be cut by at least 7 percent. This continued short supplies of fats and oils may prevent a large decline in prices of soybean oil.

The price support level for the 1965 soybean crop will be $2.25 a bushel.

She said nothing as she went quietly past him and into the hallway. She had gone to the telephone and was dialing a number from memory.

She said without preliminary—not giving her name, knowing she would be recognized—"We can't hold out here any longer. Please come over here right away. Tell her anything. Just come."

She disconnected and turned to Clay.

"I'm sorry I lied to you."

"You've been lying to me since the minute I came home last Wednesday night."

"But no more. There've been too many lies. Too many to undo. Please don't judge me too harshly."

His answer was acrid. "His lawyers have a stock question for shifty witnesses. 'You were lying then but you're telling the truth now?'"

"The whole truth, Clay. I promise. You'll know."

"That thing about the raincoat... was staged," she began. "It was only a way of distracting your attention from what Barcello was really doing. He was having me identified."

"Their name is Hunter, Mr. and Mrs. George Hunter. They live here in town, on Ramona Street. They were the ones who happened to give me a lift that night. They dropped me off near here. Watching her husband's face, her own unreadable, Cynthia added, "I was the woman who'd been in the accident with David."

He felt weak; he sank into a chair, recalling how earnestly Cynthia had denied having had a rendezvous with Howard Gould.

"When they picked me up—it was at a filling station—they didn't know about the accident, but then they saw the police car and the ambulance heading for it. The motel is on the same road and not far. They have a son on the police force here. When they read in the paper about Howie they had to tell him about me."

"You went to that motel with David?"

She was losing some of her calmness. "Please, Clay, let me tell you this in my own way. Parts of it aren't for me to tell anyway—aren't for my own knowledge. I didn't see Howie."

"When you left there Howie was dead?"

"When we left and when we came. In that other room, dead and alone."

"How did you know?"

"David found him and told me. After that, all we could think of was that we had to get away from there, the faster the better."

"Leaving a trail behind you!" Clay said sourly.

"Yes, he did, but not until we were on our way back. He couldn't possibly get hold of the registration card, Clay—couldn't possibly change it or destroy it. He decided there was only one thing he could do about that—abandon the car somewhere near Fernand Beach and take a taxi the rest of the way, then report the car stolen. That would make it appear someone else had driven it to the motel. It might have worked, except that the accident made it impossible."

Except. Clay would have known nothing about all this except that a mocking thing called fate had tripped them up.

"David wasn't driving too fast. We were going into a curve in the road and another car came at us in the wrong lane. David had to swerve onto the shoulder to avoid a head-on collision, and almost before we knew it we'd hit the utility pole. The other car didn't even stop."

"That was when you got hurt. No glass door. Then."

"It could have been worse. In the last few seconds David saw the pole... but too late. He threw himself sideways, across me, trying to brace me. That was how he happened to hit his head on the dashboard. I found myself there on the floor with David limp. I tried to arouse him and couldn't, then somehow I managed to climb out and go looking for help for him."

He was thinking again of the mockery of circumstances. "If I had arrived here half an hour earlier I'd have caught you coming in."

"Would that have been better?" She shivered at the thought. "I looked frightful. My nose had bled, not much, but there were spots on my dress"—Cynthia smiled sadly—"the green one you liked so much. The spots wouldn't come out entirely, so I had to get rid of it."

He said acridly. "My wife gets herself involved in a murder case and I'm to know nothing about it!"

She stiffened at that. "Don't you understand why? Most of all I wanted to avoid involving you and hurting you!"

Beta Sigma Phi Chapters

The April 5th meeting of Kappa Omega was held at the home of Mrs. Linda May in Pisgah, Illinois. President Rosemary Alderman presided. Plans for the Mother-Daughter and Founder's Day banquets, to be held in May, were discussed. All reservations for the Founder's Day banquet must be turned in to Judy Reagan by April 19th.

Kay Foster, Nancy Ja Bates, Becky Roesch, and Judy Newcum were welcomed into the Chapter and will be officially initiated during the Pledge Ritual April 19th at the home of Carole Watkins. The group enjoyed playing Bunco and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess with Mrs. DeeDee Curtis assisting.

NEWS NOTES FROM VERSAILLES AREA

VERSAILLES—Mr. and Mrs. John R. Miller of Cedar Rapids, Iowa became parents of a son born at 10:15 a.m. April 5. The baby has been named Bradford Wilson and weighed eight pounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy V. Wilson are maternal grandparents. Mrs. Wilson is spending this week in the Miller home.

Jessie Henry is a patient in Passavant hospital for observation and treatment.

A meeting for all parents interested in Junior League Baseball will be held at 7:30 p.m. Friday, April 9 at Finks Grocery.

Cramer's Bible is a second edition of the great Bible, published in 1540, in which Archbishop Cramer had a long preface.

soring a trip Tuesday, April 13 to the Baptist Home in Virden. Mrs. Alberta Rawlings read a poem and devotions "Christian Parents" were presented by Mrs. McDonald.

BUT IS IT LEGAL?—Harvey Johnson of Cincinnati, Ohio, thought he had a cute idea here. He went to a good bit of trouble to get a license number which, when upside down, spelled the name of the gas he sells at his station. Now the spoil-sport police are getting stuffy about a number mounted this way.

C.D. Of A. To Install Officer Slate In June

On April 1 the Catholic Daughters of America met in the Knights of Columbus Hall. The grand regent Mrs. Donald Blesse conducted the business meeting and asked for reports from the various committees. Members were reminded of the annual May Breakfast on May 16 at the Dunlap Motor Inn when new members will be guests of the Court. Mrs. John McGuire of Beardstown will be the speaker.

Mrs. Odell Fellhauer presented the following slate of officers to be installed in June. Grand Regent, Mrs. Donald Blesse; vice grand regent, Mrs. Frank Carlet; prophetess, Mrs. Walter Gilmore; financial secretary, Mrs. Robert Scanlon; historian, Mrs. Robert Newport; treasurer, Mrs. James Steele; monitor, Mrs. George Foster; sentinel, Mrs. Frank Hynes; lecturer, Mrs. John Hall; and organist, Mrs. John Doyle; and Trustees, Mrs. Paul Curtis and Miss Margaret Fitzpatrick. Seeks Members

Mrs. Harold McNamara spoke briefly to the members about the Entre Nous Toastmistress Club which meets the third Wednesday of every month at 6:30 P. M. at Hamilton's. New members are welcome and Mrs. McNamara stated that the purpose of Toastmistress is "to help women to help themselves."

In the current speech contest Mrs. Gerald Lonergan won first place and Mrs. Edward Jordan won second place. Entre Nous will entertain the court at the May meeting with a hat style show. Mission committee chairman Mrs. Con Lonergan thanked members who responded to her call for help in donating material and sewing skill in making dresses for little girls. Mrs. Lonergan arranged a display of the articles made by herself, Mrs. Richard Lonergan, Mrs. John Hanley, Mrs. Fred Curtis, Mrs. Lawrence Flynn, Mrs. Emma Reiser, and Mrs. Margaret McDonald.

Mrs. Thomas Kerrihard gave a report of her first meeting as one of the sponsors of twenty-five eleven year old girls through the Big Brother and Sister Program. Each girl has chosen as a project to learn to sew or cook.

Mrs. Kerrihard feels this is a rewarding experience and encouraged other members of the court to donate time to this project.

Floral Arranging Mr. and Mrs. Bert Schlie of Hehl Florist presented a program in the art of making a corsage. While Mrs. Schlie demonstrated her skill in making corsages, Mr. Schlie talked in general about the florist business, and answered many questions from the members. These lovely corsages were won by Mrs. Matt Wagner, Mrs. Wayne Kottwitz, and Mrs. Paul Magner.

The beautiful centerpiece from the serving table was awarded to Mrs. Edward Galassi. Refreshments were served by the committee, Mrs. Lawrence Quinlan, chairman; Mrs. Howard Luster, co-chairman; and Mrs. Frances Bart, Mrs. Roy Behrmann, Mrs. T. R. Cain, Mrs. Lloyd Callahan, Mrs. Martin Connolly, Mrs. Augusta Cosgriff, Mrs. Mary Davison, Mrs. T. Joseph Doyle, Mrs. Mary Devlin, Mrs. Edward Flynn, Mrs. Vincent Flynn, Mrs. John Gordon, Mrs. Robert Sheehan, Mrs. John Hanley, Mrs. Mary Standley, and Mrs. Louis Cain.

MRS. GREGORY FETED AT SHOWER IN HUNDLEY HOME

Mrs. Clarence Hundley, 918 Beesley avenue, was hostess April 6 at a pink and blue shower honoring Mrs. Richard Gregory.

Bingo was enjoyed during the evening and prizes were awarded to Mary Lewis, Ann Cavaness, Helen Robinson, Thelma Vieira and Iris Bettis.

The hostess served refreshments to the following guests: Mrs. Francis Allen, Mrs. William Scott, Mrs. Martin Freil, Mrs. Charles West, Mrs. Glenn Fernandes, Mrs. Sterling Elliott, Mrs. Mary Lewis, Mrs. Anna Schulz, Mrs. Jim Laurie, Mrs. Lester Fernandes, Mrs. Jack Robinson, Judy Vieira, Ann Cavaness, Mrs. George Vieira and Mrs. Carl Hartz.

Invited guests unable to be present but sending gifts included: Mrs. Sallie Corder, Mrs. Elza Turner, Mrs. Wilbur Vieira, Mrs. Raymond Gregory, Mrs. Joe Gregory, Nadine Vieira and Rose Mary Gregory.

A letter from New Rochelle reads: "I won the opening spade lead with the queen and led my ace of diamonds. West showed out and I had to lose two diamonds and three spades. My partner tells me that my two no-trump rebid with only 17 high card points was a poor bid, but I think that we belonged in three no-trump and that I was very unlucky. What is your opinion?"

I have to agree with South's bidding. He had to find some strong rebid to do justice to his fine hand and two no-trump was his best choice. He also was unlucky to find all four diamonds in one hand. With any other diamond break three no-trump would have been a cinch after the spade lead but his failure to make the contract was due to a combination of bad breaks and careless play.

If South had been a pessimist in the play he would have said to himself: "Suits do break badly on occasion. I only need five diamond tricks for my contract. Can I make them if an opponent holds all four?"

Then he would have seen that he could handle a 4-0 diamond split if East held all four of the and proceeded to lead a low diamond toward dummy's eight.

East would win the trick and lead a spade back where upon South would enter dummy with one ace and lead a diamond. East would have to play a diamond honor. South would win and get to dummy with the other ace and lead dummy's last diamond.

This series of plays would hold East to one diamond trick and South would be home with the bacon.

TODAY'S QUESTION

Instead of bidding two no-trump your partner has gone to two spades over your two hearts. What do you do in this case?

TRINITY AID GROUP SELECTS OFFICERS AT APRIL MEETING

ARENZVILLE — The Ladies Aid of Trinity Lutheran church held its April meeting on Thursday at the church, with 37 members answering roll call. The meeting opened with the hymn, "Oh, Worship the King," which was also the title of the devotional topic taken from the LWML Quarterly, led by Mrs. Robert Witte.

The slate of officers presented by the nominating committee was accepted, and the following were elected to serve for the coming year: president, Mrs. Lord's Prayer. The remainder of the day was spent in quilting and sewing.

The noon luncheon was served by the hostesses for the day, Mrs. Elmer Roegge, Mrs. Herbert Strubbe, Mrs. Glen Love-Herschel Staake, cheer and publicity secretary, Mrs. Elmer Roegge.

Mrs. Harold Witte presided at the business session, and called for reports by the standing committees. Mrs. Marvin Ommen and Mrs. Walter Lovekamp reported making six calls to shut-ins during the month. Committees were appointed for May and June. Furnishing refreshments for patients at the Jacksonville State Hospital under the Volunteer Service program for May are Mrs. Harold Witte, Mrs. Henry Witte, and Mrs. Louise Witte. Serving refreshments for a similar party in June are Mrs. Robert Witte, Mrs. William Witte, and Mrs. Edward Carls.

Mrs. Grace Schnitker and Mrs. Eda Winkelman will care for the altar in May and June. Visiting the sick and shut-in for these two months are Mrs. William Maschmeier and Mrs. Esther Morrison.

Delegates chosen to attend the 20th convention of the Central Illinois District of LWML at Decatur on May 11 are Mrs. Harold Roegge and Mrs. Walter Lovekamp. Mrs. Homer Fricke and Mrs. L. J. Wessler are alternates.

The birthday song honored five members present whose birthdays are in April and May. Mrs. Dena Paul thanked the members for the card shower for her recent birthday anniversary.

Mrs. Grace Schnitker and Mrs. John Phelps were appointed as co-chairmen for the LWML Rally to be held at the local church in October.

The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer. The remainder of the day was spent in quilting and sewing.

The noon luncheon was served by the hostesses for the day, Mrs. Elmer Roegge, Mrs. Herbert Strubbe, Mrs. Glen Love-Herschel Staake, cheer and publicity secretary, Mrs. Elmer Roegge.

A HELPFUL HINT TO GAS HEAT CUSTOMERS:

Keep your furnace pilot on- and you'll keep rust out!

Heating contractors tell us that one of the greatest causes of furnace replacement is rust. Even in a dry basement, the wet-and-dry summer periods can cause condensation and moisture in your furnace, leading to rust and corrosion. By leaving your pilot on, and the thermostat turned way down, you keep the air dry and eliminate rusting problems. The cost of operating the gas pilot is low—it is the cheapest possible rust insurance.

OTHER ADVANTAGES—When the furnace pilot is on—you have instant automatic heat whenever you want it. Unexpected cold weather, damp nights or sickness often bring a need for heat. If the gas pilot light is on—heat is immediately available at the turn of your thermostat. Turn the heat on—or off—at your convenience. And it's ready to go at the first sign of cold weather next fall.

Note: Air filters should be replaced before next heating season.

Mrs. Richard A. Doubet

Donna Miner, Richard Doubet Wed At Waverly

The First Baptist church in Waverly was the setting for the Saturday evening, April third wedding of Miss Donna Verne Miner and Richard A. Doubet. The Reverend Eugene Owsley performed the ceremony at a candle-light altar banked with gladioli and greenery.

Tapers at the altar were lighted by Janice Coker, cousin of the bride, and Betty Doubet, sister of the groom.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Miner and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Doubet, all of Waverly route one.

Miss Linda Kay Miner was organist during the nuptial prelude and accompanied the soloist, Miss Doris Ewens.

Miss Lana Kay Miner was her sister's maid of honor. The groom's sister, Miss Sharon Doubet and Miss Bonnie Coker, a cousin of the bride, were bridesmaids.

Steven Doubet attended his brother as best man. Stephen Rheas and James Summers were groomsmen. Guests were seated by Wayne Miner, uncle of the bride and David Seiz.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a lovely gown of white peau appliqued with Alecon lace and fashioned with a detachable train. Her shoulder length veil of illusion fell from a crown of lace. She carried a cascade of white roses, Stephanotis and ivy with a white Bible.

The bride's attendants were dressed alike in floor length mint green taffeta overlaid with white embroidered organza. Their headpieces matched their gowns and each carried a cascade of white carnations, roses and greenery.

The mother of the bride wore a pink knit suit with black and white accessories. The groom's mother wore a beige linen costume with white and black accessories. Both mothers wore white carnation corsages, the bride's mother with pink roses and the groom's mother with yellow rosebuds.

A reception was held in the Legion Hall at Waverly. Assisting were Mrs. Don Meggins, Mrs. Larry Bowens, Leah Milburn, Sharon Thomas, Beverly Cameron, Doria Mitchell, Joyce Crank and Donna Meggins.

The newlyweds are making their home at 1021 South First street in Springfield.

Both young people graduated from Waverly High School, the bride in 1961 and the groom in 1961. Mrs. Doubet attended South West Baptist College at Bolivar, Missouri and is employed at the Springfield Marine Bank. The groom attended Greer Technical Institute in Chicago and is employed at Witt and Armstrong Equipment Company, also in Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. James Ballard

Gloria Nash And James Ballard Exchange Vows

Miss Gloria Nash and James Ballard of Jacksonville were united in marriage Saturday afternoon, March twenty-seventh in Grace Methodist church. The pastor, Reverend Frank Nestler, performed the double ring ceremony before the palm banked altar. Mrs. G. O. Webster was organist.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Edwin Soellner of Jacksonville and Allen T. Nash of Herrington, Kansas. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ballard of Jacksonville.

The bride's maid of honor was Miss Peg Robertson of Rockport. The bridesmaids were Miss Sherry Trusty of Eldred and Miss Mary Devlin of Champaign. The attendants are classmates of the bride.

William Ballard of Mattoon was his brother's best man. Groomsmen were Sam Davidson and Joe Chaney of Jacksonville. Guests were seated by Tom Ballard, brother of the groom, and Robert Watkins, nephew of the groom, both of Jacksonville.

The bride was given in marriage by her stepfather, Edwin Soellner. She wore an original gown which she made of white brocade satin, fashioned to train. Her veil of Chantilly lace fell from a brocade pillbox headdress adorned with pearls. She carried blue topped white carnations with her white Bible.

The bride's attendants were gowned identically in graduated shades of blue satin. The honor attendant wore the darker shade. The full length dresses were styled on the same lines as the gown worn by the bride. Pillbox headdresses matched their respective gowns and each carried a nosegay of bluetipped carnations.

The bride's mother wore a light blue whipped-cream crepe with beige accessories. The mother of the groom chose dark blue nylon with dark accessories. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

Hone Reception Following the ceremony a reception was held in the home of the bride's parents at 8 Sundrydale in Jacksonville.

Assisting were Mrs. Evelyn Watkins, Jacksonville, sister of the groom, Miss Wendy Rambo, of Pennsylvania, the bride's "little sister" in nursing school, Mrs. Sam Davidson, Jacksonville, cousin of the bride, and Miss Bonnie Williams, Virginia, and Miss Karen Purcell, of Missouri, classmates of the bride and Mrs. James Williams, of Chatham.

Upon return from a short wedding trip the couple took up residence at Hillcrest Trailer Court, 841 West Morton.

The bride is completing her senior year of training in FMAH School of Nursing and the groom is employed at J. Capps and Sons, Limited.

Guests from Alton, Mattoon, Carthage, Rockport, Kankakee, and Joliet were among others from out of town. George Nash of White Hall, the bride's paternal grandfather and only living grandparent of either the bride or groom, attended the wedding ceremony and reception.

Carrollton High Senior Class To Present Play

CARROLLTON — The Senior class of the Carrollton Community Unit High school will present the play Diary of Anne Frank at 8 p.m. Friday, April 23 in the high school gymnasium. All students, parents and the general public are invited to attend.

The play was produced for the first time October 5, 1955 in New York City under the direction of Garson Kanin and has since been a favorite with theatre going people around the world.

JHS Track Squad Takes Rare Loss On Home Grounds

A powerful Wood River team handed Jacksonville only its third home track loss in eight years Friday, whipping the Crimson 72-47, while Quincy trailed in the triangular match with 37 points.

The Oilers turned in nine first place finishes as compared to four by the Crimson and a pair by Quincy.

Crimson sprinter Bob Lomelino turned in an outstanding performance in his final appearance of his prep career.

Lomelino, who passes the age maximum with the meet, capped impressive victories in the 220-yard dash and by inches in a blazing 440-yard sprint.

Lomelino missed a chance at his third triple triumph of the year when he was disqualified in the 100-yard dash by jumping the gun twice.

Tom Andrews, another who saw his final action due to the age deadline, took a fourth in the shot put and a third in the discus.

The freshman-sophomore 880 yard relay continued its undefeated string in their speciality with a wide margin of victory in an impressive 1:40.9 timing.

Runners on the relay are Jim Bruner, Art McPike, Benny Richardson and Abe Brown.

Besides Lomelino's two first and the relay triumph, the only other Crimson victory was Larry Nortrup's first in the pole vault.

Much of Wood River's strength came on their depth, as they picked up eight points in the 120 yard high hurdles, six in the 100 yard dash, eight in the 180 yard high hurdles, seven in the high jump and eight in the shot put.

The loss was only the third in eight years, the only other in that time last year at the hands of Mascoutah.

MacMurray In Wabash Relays

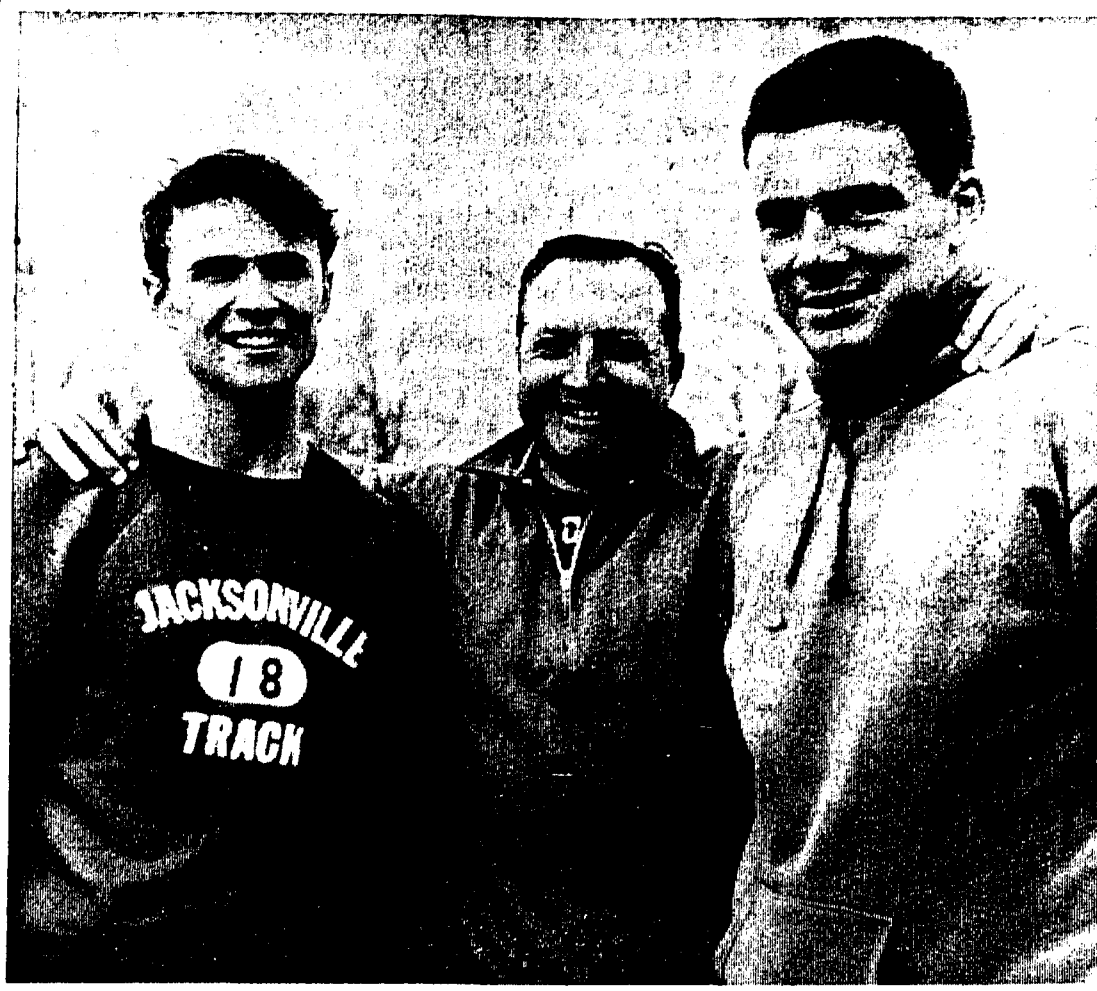

CRAWFORDSVILLE Ind (AP) — The 12th annual Wabash Relays will draw a record field of about 375 athletes from 17 colleges and universities Saturday.

A unique feature of the meet is the method of scoring the field events. Records include 36 feet 9 inches in the pole vault and 18 feet 5 inches in the high jump—computed by adding the heights of three men from a school.
Entrants include Elmhurst, MacMurray, Millikin and Wheaton.
No team scores are computed. The meet is designed primarily as an early-season conditioner.

MATSON SETS WORLD SHOT PUT MARK

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Randy Matson of Texas A&M set a world record in the shot put here Friday night with a toss of 67 feet, 1 1/4 inches.
He topped the record on his sixth and final throw in a quadrangular meet involving A&M, Baylor, Texas and SMU.
The 6-foot-6 1/4, 260-pound Aggie sophomore erased Dallas Long's mark of 67-0. A week ago Matson came within one inch of the mark with a put of 67-9 in the Texas Relays.

Prussian king Frederick Wilhelm II ordered construction of Berlin's Brandenburg Gate in 1791.

OLD TRACK VETERANS NOW — Jacksonville High track coach Al Rosenberger is flanked by two of his veteran track performers Bob Lomelino (l) and Tom Andrews, who passed the age deadline Friday and therefore the close of their prep interscholastic athletic careers.

Principia Takes Triangular Meet

VIRGINIA — Principia took a triangular golf match from Illinois College and Culver-Stockton Friday afternoon in a meet held at the Virginia Country Club.

Principia whipped IC 13-5 and Culver 11-4, while the Blueboys split for second spot, taking Culver 10-5.

Medalist for the winners was Tuck Spaulding with a 38-37-75. Low for Illinois College was Phil Lewandowski with a 40-38-78, while Bucky Sullivan turned in a 42-39-81, including an eagle on the tough par-four sixth hole.

IC scores:
Lewandowski 40-38-78
Sullivan 42-39-81
Greer 43-39-82
Willard 43-47-90
Evans 61-50-111

CBC Dumps JHS Golf Team, 11-5

Quincy Christian Brothers rolled to an 11-5 dual golf match victory over Jacksonville's High School linksters at Nichols Park Friday, despite Steve Bockemeier's medalist 37 nine-hole round.

The only winners for the locals were Bockemeier and Dave Moxon, who fired a 47. Bill Schneider picked up a half-point as did Don Jarrett.

The Crimson golfers are now 1-1-1 for the year. Saturday's match with Taylorville and Quincy at Quincy was cancelled due to soggy greens in Quincy.

Results:
R. Moller (Q) (38) d Cisne (J) (41) 2-0
Bockemeier (J) (37) d Sturhahn (Q) (47) 2-0
D. Schnoff (Q) (41) d Schneider (J) (46) 1 1/2-1/2

The annual guessing contest is complicated this spring by the aches and pains of such stars as Orlando Cepeda, Roberto Clemente, Hank Aaron, Bill Mazeroski and Koufax. The healthiest team may get a jump in April and never be headed.

MacMurray In Wabash Relays

CRAWFORDSVILLE Ind (AP) — The 12th annual Wabash Relays will draw a record field of about 375 athletes from 17 colleges and universities Saturday.

A unique feature of the meet is the method of scoring the field events. Records include 36 feet 9 inches in the pole vault and 18 feet 5 inches in the high jump—computed by adding the heights of three men from a school.
Entrants include Elmhurst, MacMurray, Millikin and Wheaton.
No team scores are computed. The meet is designed primarily as an early-season conditioner.

MATSON SETS WORLD SHOT PUT MARK

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — Randy Matson of Texas A&M set a world record in the shot put here Friday night with a toss of 67 feet, 1 1/4 inches.
He topped the record on his sixth and final throw in a quadrangular meet involving A&M, Baylor, Texas and SMU.
The 6-foot-6 1/4, 260-pound Aggie sophomore erased Dallas Long's mark of 67-0. A week ago Matson came within one inch of the mark with a put of 67-9 in the Texas Relays.

Prussian king Frederick Wilhelm II ordered construction of Berlin's Brandenburg Gate in 1791.

LAST ONE FOR CRIMSON: Sprinter Bob Lomelino gets his five final points for Jacksonville's track squad here with a two-stride victory in the 220-yard dash. Lomelino also won the 440-yard dash Friday afternoon.

Pick Cards To Nip Reds For NL Flag

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — The St. Louis Cardinals will shade the Cincinnati Reds in the National League this season with Philadelphia, San Francisco and Milwaukee snapping at their heels. If Sandy Koufax can work regularly, the Los Angeles Dodgers also will be up there. Only Houston and New York appear hopelessly out of it.

Nobody has repeated in the National League since Milwaukee in 1957-58 and only three teams have won successive pennants in the last 20 years. The Cards are a solid ball club at every position, a little thin in reserves and possibly in the bullpen. Like all the other teams, the Cards could be floored by an injury to a key regular.

The annual guessing contest is complicated this spring by the aches and pains of such stars as Orlando Cepeda, Roberto Clemente, Hank Aaron, Bill Mazeroski and Koufax. The healthiest team may get a jump in April and never be headed.

Here's the way it looks from here:
1. St. Louis
2. Cincinnati
3. Philadelphia
4. San Francisco
5. Milwaukee
6. Los Angeles
7. Pittsburgh
8. Chicago
9. Houston
10. New York

The Cards have the same lineup that squeezed home first last October and then beat off the New York Yankees in a seven-game World Series. They lost a manager when Johnny Keane moved over to the Yanks, but took on a favorite son, Red Schoendienst, as his successor.

A year ago the outfield was unsettled. Now the Cards have Lou Brock and Mike Shannon to go with Curt Flood. The infield is of All-Star caliber. Tim McCarver, still nursing a broken finger, is the only established catcher. The pitching has been helped by the addition of Bob Purkey from Cincinnati and Tracy Stallard from New York. The club has the punch, speed and defense to handle the others.

Reds Look Great
Cincinnati has looked great in spring training. Frank Robinson is on the beam slamming home runs. The pitching is so deep that Dick Sisler actually has too many starters. The infield is still unsettled with experiments continuing at first and third. If the Reds get away fast, nobody may catch them because their pitching is the best in the league.

Philadelphia has added Dick Stuart to hit home runs and Bo Belinsky as another left-hander to the pitching side. It remains to be seen if there will be any reaction from the collapse of last September when the club let the pennant slide out of its grasp in a 10-game September losing streak.

Cepeda's slow recovery from knee surgery adds doubt to the Giant situation where Herman Franks, a coach last year, has taken over as manager. The potential is there with Willie Mays still leading the way but the Giants have an annoying habit of failing to live up to expectations.

Milwaukee's hitters scare everybody in the league but Bobby Bragan's pitching still may be a little too green for the long run. The absence of Aaron, who underwent surgery on his ankle during spring training, has to hurt.

Koufax is the key to the Dodgers. If he is a once-a-week pitcher there will be a heavy burden on Don Drysdale, Claude Osteen and Johnny Podres. Tommy Davis must continue his fine spring comeback if the Dodgers are to get enough runs to back up the pitching.

DeBUSSCHERE SENT TO INDIANAPOLIS

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — Dave DeBusschere, the 24-year-old giant right-hander who doubles as a professional basketball player and coach with Detroit, was optioned by the Chicago White Sox to Indianapolis Friday.

DeBusschere reported three weeks late to the Sox training camp because of his basketball duties. He worked only four innings for the Sox this spring and was left in Sarasota to get more work.

This is the fourth and last option allowed on DeBusschere. General Manager Ed Short explained the Sox early schedule would not allow DeBusschere to work and "we want him to pitch every fourth day."
Short said DeBusschere conceivably could be recalled in three or four weeks.

Crimsons Cop 3rd Baseball Win, 7-1

SPRINGFIELD — A five-run outburst in the third inning plus combined five-hit pitching by Bob Dean and Robin Manker boosted Jacksonville's baseball club to their third straight diamond triumph, an impressive 7-1 count over Springfield High at Lanphier Park.

JHS continued to get lusty hitting, pounding out nine hits, one a two-run 290-foot round-tripper by Dennis Wegehoff, his second in the same spot this week.

Dean went the first five, holding the Senators to three scattered singles, while Manker hurled the last two, giving up two more one-base safeties in the relief role. The two pitchers walked only one batter in the seven frames.

First baseman Tom Woods pounded out three hits in four official trips, while Wegehoff and second baseman Creston Whitaker each collected a pair of safeties. Whitaker has now garnered eight hits in 12 turns at the plate in the three Crimson games.

Break Loose In 3rd
JHS managed only a single in each of the first two innings before breaking loose for five runs on four hits and three Springfield boots in the third.

John Minor started the frame when he reached first on the first Senator miscue. Whitaker followed with his second straight single and both advanced on Wegehoff's single.

Coleman chased home a run with a single and Woods two more with a one-base blow. Two more Springfield errors let in the final two runs after a fielder's choice on Jerry Suttles' grounder.

The final two Crimson runs were counted in the fourth when Whitaker reached first on an error and Wegehoff unloaded over the left field barrier.

JHS threatened to add to the margin in the seventh when Coleman was hit by a pitch and Woods doubled with none out, but the next three batters were retired in order.

The lone Springfield tally crossed the plate in the fifth when Bob Berdell doubled, reached third on an error and scored on another miscue on the JHS infield.

76ers Knot Series With 134-131 Edge

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Hal Greer's 35-foot twist-around shot as the buzzer sounded tied the game up in regulation play and the Philadelphia 76ers went ahead in overtime to defeat the Boston Celtics 134-131 Friday night and knot the Eastern National Basketball Association playoff finals at two apiece.

Wilt Chamberlain, a demon on both offense and defense, led the 76ers with 34 points, followed by Chet Walker's 31 and Greer's 27.

Clan Baseball 9 In Southern Trip Opener

The Highlanders baseball team of MacMurray College will meet Arkansas A.M. & N. in a doubleheader on Saturday in the first of a six-game swing through the south over spring vacation.

The Clan, coached by William L. Wall, will be in Baton Rouge Monday to meet Louisiana State, and in New Orleans on Tuesday when they take on Loyola University. Wednesday's game will be with Spring Hill College in Spring Hill, Ala. After a day off on Thursday, the Highlanders will take to the diamond again against the University of the South in Sewanee, Tenn.

Snow and inclement weather have plagued the Highlanders' 33-game schedule so far this spring. The four-game series with Ripon was cancelled as well as the doubleheader against Millikin, and a single with Western Illinois University.

The Highlanders split a doubleheader last Tuesday with Missouri Valley Champions St. Louis University. MacMurray, with the four-hit pitching of Tom Stycken of Chicago and aided by two home runs by Tom Cochran of Springfield, won the first game, 4-2. In the second, St. Louis chalked up an 8-3 victory. Western Illinois bombed the Clan Thursday, 18-4.

White Sox Roll By Cincinnati

LYNCHBURG, Va. (AP) — The Chicago White Sox took advantage of the erratic pitching of Jim Maloney Friday and defeated the Cincinnati Reds 9-3.

The Sox reached Maloney for eight walks and five hits in the first three innings to pile up a 7-1 lead.

Floyd Robinson paced the Chicago attack with a triple and a pair of singles while driving in two runs.

Winner Joe Horlen, working the first six innings, and rookie Bruce Howard held the Reds to seven hits before a capacity crowd of 3,768.

Pete Ward had two singles for the Sox and also drove in a pair of runs.

RED WINGS PREPARE FOR PIVOTAL GAME
DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Red Wings returned home Friday and immediately left for their Toledo, Ohio, hideaway to await Sunday's fifth game in the Stanley Cup semifinal National Hockey League series with Chicago.

Lead off man on the Powell's Paint and Body Shop team, Gerald Lacey set a new high ABC three game series Tuesday night at the Bowling Center. Gerald had games of 256, 259 and 213 to total 728. This is the highest series for ABC bowlers shot at the Bowling Center since the lanes were opened.

In the Tuesday Classic league the bowlers bowl four games with only the first three counting towards a high score. Gerald had a 179 his last game for a four game total of 907, a new league high. His team had 2406 for the night also a new league high. Gerald was averaging 190 going into Tuesday night's games, second only to George Manker's 193 average in Jacksonville.

Spahn Working For A Starting Role With Mets

By JACK HAND
ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) — If Warren Spahn wins 20 games for the New York Mets, they should relax the rules and rush his left arm to Cooperstown immediately.

Spahn, crowding his 44th birthday, is one of the better stories of baseball's spring training season. He works harder than any Met, with the possible exceptions of Casey Stengel and Yogi Berra. When he isn't pitching he is helping others in his dual job of pitcher-coach or hitting a home run against the New York Yankees, as he did in a game won by the Mets.

"Do you consider yourself a pitcher or a coach?" a visitor asked.
"A pitcher first and a coach second," he replied. "I am going to be a starting pitcher unless some youngster comes along and chases me out. I like the idea of competing with young people. It has kept me going."

"When the day comes that I know I can't do the job, I'll recognize it. I don't want to knock my head against a brick wall. Last year I got off bad at Milwaukee. My record proves I'm always better in the second half but when my time came I wasn't pitching. My timing was messed up, but at the end of the year I was straightened out. Bobby Bragan believed I'd had it. I don't care about his opinion. My job is to prove him wrong."

"Every year is a challenge, this one no more than any other. I sold my services over here to pitch and I'd love to be in there opening day."

Spahn is proud of his work with the young pitchers in the Met training camp and does not anticipate any of the problems that plagued Whitey Ford when he tried the dual role of pitcher-coach for the Yankees last year.

And he is far from ready to call it a career on the mound. He still is shooting at distant goals.

"I came here with one intent — to be a starting pitcher," he said. "There are a lot of things I want to do. Winning 400 games is one. I have 356 and I know it isn't going to be easy to get 44 more."

"I'd like to break the record for pitchers hitting home runs. I have 33 and I think the record is 36. I'd like to move up in the list of all-time winners. I'd like to get the National League record of 373. I already hold the record for left-handers. I'd like to get a 14th season as a 20-game winner if possible.
"I want to start and I want to win. But I don't want to be a hanger-on. When I can't pitch I want to stay in the game as a coach or manager. But right now I'd like to pitch opening day."

3 Uncarned Runs Defeat Cubs, 7-4

SALT LAKE CITY, Utah (AP) — The Boston Red Sox scored three uncarned runs in the 10th inning Friday to defeat the Chicago Cubs 7-4 after the Cubs had tied the game in the ninth on Roberto Pena's first swing homer.

Chuck Shilling walked in the 10th, went to second on a sacrifice, advanced to third on an error by Ron Santo and scored the winning run on a passed ball. Tony Conigliaro followed with a two-run homer.

ACCIDENT ON W. WALNUT

Drivers of two cars escaped injuries Friday evening in a traffic accident in the 1200 block of West Walnut about 8:45 p.m.

Investigating city police reported that a westbound car was driven by Jerry L. Bumgarner of Concord, who told officers he swerved into the eastbound lane to avoid striking a parked car on the north side of the street.

Bumgarner's car struck an eastbound car driven by Leroy Buchanan of 713 North Prairie.

SCHOOL ELECTION

APRIL 10 AT VIRGINIA

VIRGINIA — Saturday, April 10, the annual school election to choose Board of Education members, will be held. The only polls will be at the City Hall. Polls will be open at 12 noon and will close at 7 p.m.

The only candidates to file were William C. Huffman and Harry Devlin, both incumbents. Mrs. Ruth Kilby will be a write-in candidate.

IN SENIORS FINALS

CLEARWATER, Fla. (AP) — Jack Russell, a former baseball pitcher, and Dr. John G. Mercer of Sarasota, Fla., are scheduled Friday to finals of the American Seniors Golf Tournament.

Russell defeated Dick Owen of Dunedin, Fla., 5 and 4. Mercer defeated Dick Guelich of Kenmore, N.Y., 4 and 3.

Russell and Mercer meet Saturday for the title.

"HEBREW"

Roots from which the word "Hebrew" is taken mean "to go over" or "to cross." The word was used by Gentiles to refer to people who called themselves Israelites or Sons of Jacob.

MEDICINAL HERB

The medicinal herb "ginseng" received its name from the Chinese words meaning "likeness of man" because of the shape of its root. Ginseng is believed to be a panacea by the Chinese.

THESE BASS BEAUTIES were pulled out of Pine Lakes Fishing and Camping Park in Pittsfield recently. The two proud fishermen displaying the fish are Alvin Brant, Jr. (l) and Earl McKenna, both of Pittsfield. Between the two they pulled in five bass weighing 7 lb. 4 oz., 6 lb. 10 oz., 6 lb. 4 oz., 5 lb. 11 oz., and 4 lb. 8 oz. The next day McKenna nabbed two bass weighing 6 lb. 10 oz. and 5 lb. 8 oz. Brant hauled in three the next day, all above four pounds. All the fish were caught on Mepps spinners.

Stanberry Rites Conducted Here

Funeral services for Mrs. Janie Stanberry were held Friday at the Williamson Funeral Home. Reverend William J. Sanders, James Butcher, Larry Boston officiating.

Burial was in Arcadia cemetery.

Caring for the flowers were Cora Lee Lacey, Melvina Butcher, Marlene Lacey and Constance Stout.

Palbearers were William Sanders, James Butcher, Larry Boston, Gerald Lacey, Richard Scott and Paul Baker.

HELD AFTER ACCIDENT

A Jacksonville man was fined $70 in magistrate court Friday afternoon as a result of a traffic offense on city streets.

Held in custody at the county jail Friday night was Johnny

Gilmore of 621 Illinois avenue. City police reported that Gilmore struck and damaged a no parking sign on Dunlap street, but failed to stop.

He was taken to court, but was unable to pay the fine. Police listed the time of the arrest at 3:24 p.m.
